June 18, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Big Mike Towing has announced the official launch of their business in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The company will be providing a wide range of towing and related services to those in and around the Tulsa region.

Rudi Dodson, a representative for the company says, "We are pleased to be able to provide the people of Tulsa with the finest in towing services. Big Mike's is proud of the services that we provide and we look forward to helping our community."

The company officially opened its doors for business on March 30, 2019, at their brick and mortar location at 2131 E. 69th Street in Tulsa. Since that time, Dodson says that they have helped quite a few locals with everything from towing to lockout services.

"We are available," says Dodson. "That's what we want people to know. When they can't reach anyone else, we will always answer the phone, particularly for those after-hours emergencies. We want our customers to know that they can depend on us, around the clock, no matter what."

Dodson adds that the company also has a new website, which can be accessed by visiting <http://gmbp.in/u/5d03bfd738ae1>. The website gives detailed information about each of the different services that the company is now providing in Tulsa, as well as contact information and reviews from past customers.

Customer reviews are all positive, a point that Dodson says is not surprising. "We do go out of our way to make people happy," he says. "From our quick service to our pricing policies, we believe that we know what our customers want, and we aim to give it to them."

Dodson says that their pricing policy is straightforward. He says that they offer affordable pricing for all of their services and never tack on any additional charges or fees. He says that a quote can be given after a full evaluation of the situation so that the quote is rock solid and does not change even after the job has been completed.

Dodson adds that their website contains information regarding any special pricing that the company may be offering for a limited time, and he urges those who are interested to visit the company online to learn more about these specials. The website, which can be accessed by going to <http://gmbp.in/u/5d03c0031d90c>, provides detailed information about the company's services, as well as information about how to contact them in an emergency.

The website also offers a contact form for those who are not experiencing a towing emergency but who would like to schedule a service in the future or ask a question. Those who are interested can access the contact form by visiting the contact section of the company's website.

Dodson adds that the company only hires the most qualified and professional workers, who have experience in towing a number of vehicle types. He states that their state of the art equipment ensures that they can tow virtually any vehicle, including motorcycles, and that they can do so safely and effectively.

Dodson states that anyone who has questions about the new company or the services that they will be provided to those in and around Tulsa can visit them on their new website to read about their history, their mission for caring for their customers, and the services that they offer and service areas where they will be working. Their service areas include locations of Fisher, Garnett, Lynn Lane, Mingo, Tiger, Mounds, Oneta, Lotsee, Catoosa, Owasso and a host of others. A complete list of their service areas and the specific zip codes that they service can be found on the company's website.

Those who are interested in scheduling service can reach out to Big Mike's through their website or directly by phone or email at any time during their normal operating hours. The company states that they are pleased to be up and running and says that they look forward to helping customers in and around Tulsa with all of their towing needs.
