Certified Life Coach, Chiara Pietrogiovanna, in Los Angeles, California, is now offering a 30-minute complimentary consultation for prospective clients. Life and career coaching services are offered to individuals who feel they are stuck in a life rut.

The consultation allows Pietrogiovanna to speak with potential clients to learn what they want to accomplish, and she offers tips and advice on overcoming hurdles in order to reach their goals in life. "As a certified life coach, my goal is to help my clients determine what's really important to them so that they can live happier and more purposeful lives," says Pietrogiovanna. She has a number of success stories from clients in the Los Angeles area, as well as internationally.

"Chiara is wonderful," says Marilyn. "She helped me to figure out what I wanted out of life, why I hadn't reached my goals, and how to stay motivated until I finally did. I don't know where my life would be if I hadn't met her."

Life and career coaching is a popular means of helping individuals to pursue their personal and career goals, and to stay motivated to reach those goals. Through an initial consultation, Pietrogiovanna helps prospective clients identify what's holding them back and then determines which specific steps they should focus on to reach their short and long-term goals for the future.

She also offers coaching for creatives, which is designed for artists, writers, and other creative minds, to help them to reach successful careers for their creative outlets.

Pietrogiovanna uses the latest proven cutting-edge techniques that have helped thousands of people to overcome obstacles and reach their goals. She holds a Bachelor's degree in Psychology from California State University in Northridge, as well as a Master's in Psychology from Pepperdine University in Los Angeles. She received formal training and certification in her field through the Institute for Professional Excellence in Coaching.
