

Homeowners In Newport News, Virginia, Can Sell Their House To Repay Debt

June 21, 2019

June 21, 2019 -

Homeowners in Newport News, Virginia, dealing with mounting debt should seriously consider selling their residential properties to resolve their financial problems. Capitalizing on an asset like real estate is one of the wise options to manage debt instead of paying the steep interests and risking a financial crisis. Many borrowers find it hard to repay the interests in addition to the unpaid principal. This is true for credit cards and other loans. It is financially prudent to cut the losses by avoiding thousands of dollars in interest payments. Since a house is a valuable asset, cashing in on its equity is definitely a pragmatic solution.

Dependable Homebuyers is encouraging homeowners to consider selling their houses directly without any involvement of real estate agents and by not looking for buyers in a saturated market. Going through realtors inevitably dents the return on investment. All real estate agents charge a commission, usually six percent of the sale price. There is the closing cost which is two percent of the selling price. Other expenses such as advertising, staging, listing, property inspection and possible repairs or renovations can easily escalate the overall costs to over ten thousand dollars. Such a net loss is undesirable at any given stage and especially so when someone is already indebted and has to get over a financial crisis.

The We Buy Houses company owned by Evan Roberts acquires residential properties in as-is condition. Roberts and his team have preset buying criteria but those do not include location, condition or type, layout and size. They have purchased all types of houses in every condition imaginable. Homeowners get to sell their houses at a fair market price without spending any money. There is a net gain of more than ten thousand dollars compared to the traditional way of selling houses in Newport News. The process undertake by Dependable Homebuyers is also exponentially simpler and quicker than the usual painstaking path to sell real estate in the open market. Homeowners should contact Dependable Homebuyers directly. The company sends an expert to view the property. A thorough inspection is carried out to determine the fair value of the property. There is a cash offer, usually within a day of the inspection. Homeowners are under no obligation to accept the offer or within any specific period of time. However, the company has the financial capacity to immediately purchase the property. Roberts and his team can actually close a deal and complete the sale in seven days. Many homeowners in the city and across the state of Virginia have sold their properties to Dependable Homebuyers within a fortnight. Securing maximum value for a home by getting a fair price and eliminating all expenses is critical to make the most of the equity and repay the debts. The quick sale is also necessary to repay the debts sooner than later, thus avoiding increasing interests. Financial liabilities often turn into a crisis. Homeowners who can sell their properties should consider it as a pragmatic way to avert a crisis. More of Dependable Homebuyers services can be found here.
