Families, professionals and business owners moving to Washington D.C. look forward to exploring new opportunities. While many have to relocate due to work related or professional compulsions, others move to D.C. for a better life. The district does offer many new experiences and can certainly boost specific careers. One of the challenges that almost everyone faces while moving to D.C. is the uphill battle of selling their previous homes. Unless someone can hold on to that property and still relocate, the house needs to be sold. The residential property must be sold quickly and at a fairly rewarding price.

Dependable Homebuyers has a liquidation solution for people moving to Washington D.C. The We Buy Houses company operates all across D.C. but it also has a presence in dozens of states. The nationwide real estate investment firm can buy residential properties from homeowners in any condition and location. The company is a direct buyer. This means homeowners do not have to list their properties online for sale. Real estate agents do not come into the picture. The long wait time to get a closing offer is also not a concern as the company can put forth a proposition in just one day after the inspection. The expedited sale can help anyone who wants a quick and convenient move.

Selling a property becomes imperative for many, especially for those who need cash at hand and cannot attend to their previous residence after they move. Renting out the property is an option but not many are familiar with the nitty-gritty of dealing with tenants. Those who have a mortgage will want to settle that as they may not qualify for a home loan in Washington D.C. if they already have one ongoing. Mortgages can be easily repaid by liquidating the properties. This is what Evan Roberts and his team at Dependable Homebuyers does. Here's a recent press release they published.

People moving to Washington D.C. can contact Roberts and his team. They will set up a meeting at the present residence anywhere in the country. They offer a free consultation and inspection. The real estate specialist inspects the property and determines the fair value. They provide nonobligatory cash offers soon after and can close the sale in a week. The offer is fair, not a reduced ask price as insisted by real estate agents or a figure below the market value as is normally sought by buyers. Homeowners can actually sell their house without paying any commission, closing cost or for staging, advertising, listing and repairs or home improvement. Dependable Homebuyers acquires houses in as-is condition.

Moving to Washington D.C. and buying a house becomes exponentially simpler and easier if the previous residence is sold off quickly and at a rewarding value. Dependable Homebuyers assures there will be a purchase offer and that the value will be the fairest. The company also helps sellers save thousands of dollars that increases the net return on their investment.
