Tree Removal Indianapolis, a tree service company based in Indianapolis, Indiana, has announced that they have recently launched a new website. With their new website, they can expect people who visit their website will get an appropriate understanding of the kinds of services that they provide. Among the services they can provide are tree removal, tree trimming and pruning, stump grinding and removal, 24 hour emergency service, pest control and mitigation, general tree health care, and lot clearing.

A spokesperson for Tree Removal Indianapolis says, "We're glad that our new website is now up and running. This ensures that people can get to know the tree services that we provide much better. Our services are important because handling even a small tree maintenance or removal job can be not only dangerous, but also requires expert knowledge to perform it properly for the long term benefit of your trees and shrubs. Do not make a mistake and risk hurting yourself or causing improper future growth. Call us today and we'll be happy to provide you with a free estimate."

An important service that the company offers is tree trimming and pruning services. They want to emphasize that tree trimming, pruning and maintenance is vital for any well-kept home or business. It is usually done to get rid of dead, diseased, non-producing, or unwanted branches and material from trees. Tree experts know that regular pruning is required for tree health and proper growth.

Tree trimming is also required when certain branches are in areas where they are not wanted and could be dangerous. For example, the branches could be very close to the house or electric lines. Those branches need to be removed to ensure that they will not touch the wall or window of a home and cause damage to the house or touch the electric wires, possibly causing an electric failure.

The tree professionals at Tree Removal Indianapolis can handle various scenarios. These include branch removal, sidewalk clearing, fruit tree pruning, driveway clearing, tree lopping, shrub maintenance, and tree topping. Property owners may be tempted to do some of these tasks themselves. However, it is advisable for them to always consult with a professional before making any major modifications like tree topping or tree lopping. Aside from the danger, there is also the possibility that they may over trim a tree that can result into irreparable damage. Also, incorrect pruning can cause wounds to the trees that will prevent them from maintaining healthy growth.

Tree trimming, if done properly, can help reduce the spread of disease through the elimination of diseased branches and parts. The spokesperson suggests that property owners schedule annual tree evaluations to detect potential problem areas as early as possible.

Tree Removal Indianapolis also offers stump removal and stump grinding services. Stumps in the yard are not only unsightly, they can also be dangerous for children playing the yard. They can also harbor diseases that can spread to the trees nearby. According the spokesperson, while there are many ways to get rid of a stump, they know that stump grinding is the preferred method. By hiring a professional tree service company, property owners would be able to save on the cost of renting a tree stump grinder and for paying disposal fees for removing the wood chips.

Furthermore, renting a tree stump grinder can be dangerous to people who don't have the proper training on how to use the equipment.

Tree Removal Indianapolis wants to point out that when removing tree stumps, it is always advisable to grind the stumps down to a depth of 20 inches below the grade of the yard. This will ensure that there will be no bumps or dips in the property's landscape. By using a high horsepower tree grinder, the company is able to finish the job efficiently and quickly. They will then haul away the remaining wood chips without extra charge.
