Gary, a spokesperson for the company says, "We are pleased to have our new website up and running. We believe that the website will give our customers more information about what we do and how we do it, and make it easier for them to access our full list of services when needed."

Gary says that the company provides a fast response to those in need throughout the Columbus area. The website offers contact information to reach the company as well as an online contact form. Drivers are dispatched immediately upon request and will reach customers as quickly as possible.

"We operate around the clock, so nights, weekends and even holidays are no problem," Gary adds. "We want those in and around the Columbus area to know that here is help available whenever they need it, no matter what time of the day or night that may be."

Gary adds that the company has a tow truck fleet that can help with any issue including emergency roadside assistance, heavy duty towing, flat tire repair, jump starts, vehicle and off-road recovery, accident removal, and more. The company is licensed, bonded and insured for customer safety and satisfaction.

Gary states that there is no job that they cannot handle and that they have a fleet of trucks for every possible scenario. He adds that the new website outlines all of their available services and in an easy to navigate fashion that makes it simple for customers to find the answers that they need for their towing questions.

The website also has a frequently asked questions section that provides more information about general questions that customers may have about their towing. Gary adds that they offer long distance towing for those who need cars or trucks taken several miles away, as well as wrecker services for those who may have been in an accident and need their vehicle taken to a body shop. The staff consists of licensed and insured CDL drivers who are always on call to provide services to those who are in need.

“Anyone who has questions can find answers on our new website,” Gary says. “Or, we always welcome calls to our shop. Someone is always available to answer the telephone and provide answers to any questions that our customers may have.”

Gary states that they also have flatbed trucks that are available for classic and exotic car transportation. These vehicles require a special touch when towing, and flatbed trucks provide the safest way to transport them from one place to another.

Those who are interested in learning more about the company’s various towing services can now visit them on their new website to learn more about their large fleet of trucks as well as the various services that they provide. Information on the website is provided for the location as well as the normal operating hours of the business, and Gary states that there is always someone available around the clock, on weekends, nights, and holidays to provide services to those in need.
