

Hunt Health Bringing EMF Shielding and Detection to Chicago Illinois

July 21, 2015

July 21, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Hunt Health, a wellness company, whose website is located at <http://www.hunthealth.org>, offers many cutting edge wellness services like doctor referrals and patient advocates, and is now adding a new service to their arsenal: EMF shielding and EMF detection for homes and businesses in the Chicago, IL area.

EMFs or electro-magnetic frequencies are invisible electric and magnetic fields. Some EMFs are generated naturally in your body and from the Earth and atmosphere and can actually be healthy for you. EMFs can also be manmade and may pose significant health risks to people. Sources of manmade EMF's include power lines, underground power cables, house wiring, appliances and cell phones, wifi, ipads, computers, smart meters, cell towers and more. Each of these has variable strength and fields and can be found in your home and children's schools etc.

Although the science is still developing on EMFs, there are already some established adverse health effects as well as some possible adverse health effects that are still being debated and studied. Some of the possible adverse health effects are childhood leukemia, other cancers, neurodegenerative disorders and depression: <http://www.emfs.info/health/reviews/>.

Sometimes, there could be an invisible EMF field in your house or bedroom that may be causing some health issues and you'd never know about it unless you had someone come and measure for these fields. This is the new service Hunt Health is providing to homes in the Chicago area. They'll come to your house to detect hidden emf fields and then show you how to take precautionary measures, reduce your exposure or properly shield yourself from those potentially harmful EMF fields.

To schedule an EMF detection screening in Chicago or the surrounding suburbs for your home, visit the Hunt Health website.

On the Hunt Health website you'll also find a wellness blog and interviews with different health experts. In this section you'll find topics that aren't normally covered in the mainstream media. In another section you'll be able to find patient advocates in Chicago and throughout the United States as well as a service that will refer you to a doctor who has been proven to be successfully treating a health condition you might suffer from.

Hunt Health was founded with the belief that many times there's got to be a better way out there when it comes to solving your specific health issue. The majority of people pay more attention to the kind of gasoline they put into their cars than the kind of doctor they go to or health practices they employ in their lives. As of this writing, the Hunt Health website is not fully completed yet but should be finished in September of 2015. However as of today you can access interviews, articles, EMF information, and health and wellness recommendations.

###

For more information about Hunt Health, contact the company here: Hunt HealthHunterRileysupport@hunthealth.org

Hunt Health

Hunt Health is a wellness company that believes you're responsible for your health and makes it easy to find the best ways to solve your particular health issue.

Website: <http://www.hunthealth.org>

Email: support@hunthealth.org

