June 27, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Chilliwack, British Columbia based company All About Painting recently published a new informational video where they answer some of their customer's most commonly asked questions. Led by Rickey Rain, the company has been serving homeowners in the local community with their reliable and fast services since the year 1984.

All About Painting says that one of their customer's most common concerns is the time that they will take to finish each job. The Chilliwack House Painting Contractor explains, "We are very aware of how inconvenient it is to have someone working around the house for an extended period of time. We take pride in offering a fast service to ensure our customer's convenience, though, depending on how much work needs to be done, it could take up to a couple of days. If there are a number of walls around our client's house, or if there has been damage to the existing paint in the walls, or even if the client has an overzealous pet or two that likes to climb the walls, then the process will be delayed significantly."

They state that their foremost priority is to ensure the quality and durability of the work that they do. For this, it is necessary to properly prepare the surfaces that are going to be painted, since the paint job could otherwise be easily be damaged, or form lumps beneath the surface. To meet this purpose, the company only uses paint of the best quality, as quality paint is crucial to obtaining the best results. All About Painting has the resources and contacts to maintain partnerships with renowned paint providers, allowing them to obtain paint at more affordable rates. This cost offset is, in turn, shared with their customers, enabling the company to offer prices that are unmatched in the area.

This is a level of commitment that All About Painting applies to every aspect of their services, as the company has demonstrated that they will do everything within their power to deliver a result that satisfies their customer's needs. This is something that Rickey Rain talks about on the video where he talks about their House Painting Chilliwack services, saying "We start on your job and stay at it every day until it is complete. We will only determine that a job is complete when our customer is satisfied with the painting job. This is how confident we are in our job, as we guarantee a fast service that will satisfy every customer."

All About Painting Chilliwack has a strong customer-friendly payment policy; they state that they only take a payment after the paint job is finished, and only if the customer is happy with the result. Through their website, they state, "You don't pay a dime to us, either for estimates, for paint, or for the painting job until you deem the work we have to be to your satisfaction."

This commitment has earned the local contractor glowing reviews from their customers, who have ranked the company's painting capability among the best in the area. In a recent review, Robert Cole described his experience with All About Painting, saying, "Rickey was very professional and did an awesome job painting my house. He paid great attention to detail, ensuring that every single aspect of the painting job was as I desired it. My walls and ceiling were very textured and he did an excellent job making sure that everything was covered. I was pleasantly surprised by this, as many other contractors in the area do not put much thought into this and just rush through the job. Rickey was nothing like this, and he made sure I was completely satisfied before he concluded the job as finished. Even after this, when he did walk through at the end, he took the time to fix the spots that were missed, which were minor. I highly recommend All About Painting, as they did an outstanding job."
