The Arizona based, company ToNic Innovations, has recently launched the phone holder on their Amazon store. Their product, a magnetic air vent car mount, is exclusively available from their Amazon store and is a result of the company's stance on providing a safer option for their customers to use in their cars. Todd Bennett, the spokesman for ToNic explained, "While we realize this is not a complete solution for texting while driving, we hope to minimize the diversion of the driver's eyes by mounting the device as close to the line of site as possible without impairing the driver's vision of the road."

The magnetic air vent car mount differs from traditional phone holders in the way that they are unobtrusive to use. "Using this magnetic mount, you can place your cell phone at a position where it is easy to use," Todd confirmed the company's determination of discouraging drivers from being distracted. "Unlike other regular mounts, it doesn't block your view from the front glass and hence doesn't create a distraction during driving." Customers of the phone mount seem to agree with this intention. "I can keep an eye on my phone so if something important comes up I could pull over," a customer reviewed. "This allows me to see who's calling or texting me without touching my phone and taking my eyes off the road too long."

The design of ToNic's mobile cellphone holder is based on the application of magnetic attraction between a metal plate attached to the phone, and the magnet in the holder which is mounted on the grill of the car's vent. Todd elaborates on the quality of materials used, "The strong magnet for mounting your product ensures that your valuable phone doesn't fall off even on the bumpiest of the rides." The mechanism of the phone holder allows 360 degrees rotation for the phone and the presence of a swivel joint allows for further adjustment, as Todd explained, "The ball joint lets the user position the holder at any angle they find most comfortable."

The phone holder is sold with a 100% quality guarantee, which has been appreciated by its customers who have rated the product a perfect 5 out of 5 on Amazon.
