Mr. Chem-Dry, a carpet cleaning Ogden Utah service provider, has announced that they have been publishing articles on their blog that shows how carpet cleaning can make a great improvement for the home that is immediately felt. Carpet cleaning can allow the home to have carpets look like they're brand new. Especially for homes with pets, professional carpet cleaning could be the only way to ensure that the allergens are eliminated from the carpeting and upholstery.

“Even if you are on a tight budget, carpet cleaning is one great way to a welcoming and fresh home,” says Daryl Olsen, president of Mr. Chem-Dry. He adds, “There are two main types of carpet cleaning. They are steam cleaning and Chem-Dry cleaning. With steam cleaning, the carpet fibers are drenched in water with chemicals. It takes days for the carpeting to dry, and may allow bacteria to re-attach to the carpeting while it dries. Introducing a wet environment to the carpeting backing also allows for mold to fester and grow.”

Mr. Chem-Dry makes use of hot carbonating extraction, which offers a healthy and green deeper clean. The process releases bubbles that reach the carpet fibers and then burst, lifting the dirt and debris. The equipment then sucks those things out of the carpet. And because the water used is 80 percent less compared to steam cleaning, the carpet dries much faster.

Daryl Olsen explains that the Natural® Chem-Dry proprietary cleaning solution offers deep down cleaning of the carpet without using any harsh detergents or chemicals that can be harmful not just to health but also to the environment. And because it uses 80 percent less water, the carpet, rugs, and upholstery can completely dry in as little as one to two hours, instead of the usual days for other solutions.

The cleaning process used by Mr. Chem-Dry is not only safe but also Green Certified. The truck mounted unit heats up the cleaning solution to a temperature of 230 degrees. It is then applied by the PowerHead Machine® with patented Amplified Extraction, gliding, spinning, and sucking all of the dirt and debris.

Aside from carpet cleaning, Mr. Chem-Dry also offers other kinds of services. These include green cleaning, granite countertop restoration, rug cleaning, pet urine removal treatment, upholstery cleaning, water damage cleanup, and tile cleaning. As previously mentioned, the company specializes in green cleaning. Their cleaning process avoids the use of detergents, soaps, phosphates, enzymes, organic solvents, surfactants, bleaches, optical brighteners, fragrances, thickeners, polymers, plastics, artificial colors, and petroleum-based chemicals that can be dangerous to health and even to the lakes, streams, forests, and the air.

Aside from carpet cleaning, it can be expected that the company will also offer rug cleaning. Rugs are a bit different from carpets in that they often take a lot of punishment because they are usually placed in parts of the home with heavy traffic. The result is that rugs may be much dirtier than they look. The cleaning process for rugs is basically the same as for carpets but some rugs may require some extra tender loving care. No need to worry because the professionals from Mr. Chem-Dry know how to take care of all kinds of rugs, including the expensive and delicate Oriental and Persian rugs.

And then, of course, there is upholstery cleaning, which is also similar to carpet cleaning. The difference is that the upholstered furniture may even be dirtier than the carpets because of people and pets. Such furniture are often porous, thus absorbing a lot of dirt, sweat, grime, dust mites, and other debris from the environment. Extracting these is quite a challenge, which is why the usual DIY upholstery cleaning often fails to provide the desired results. Fortunately, the dirt extraction capability of the Mr. Chem-Dry process is more than capable.
