Pigment, a business based in Charlottesville, Virginia, has announce that they are offering five star cabinet painting and refinishing services in Charlottesville and neighboring areas. The painting and refinishing shop has also recently receive five star reviews from previous clients, earning them a five star reputation. Those who want to know more about their cabinet painting and refinishing services can check out <https://www.pigmentcolordesign.com/cabinets>.

Christy Baker, Creative Director and Lead Designer at Pigment, says, "We specialize in cabinet re-paints for kitchens, bath, and more. From finishing solid wood to laminate and previously painted surfaces to new builds: we provide a custom approach in our painting process to refresh your space. We use sophisticated finishing products to increase durability, add to your property value and lower environmental impact."

The cabinet finishes that they are able to provide range from "chalk finish" matte to high gloss "lacquer." They also offer other custom artistic finishes, such as antique/distressed, glazed, faux bois, strie/dragged brush, wash effects, and more. Those interested can contact them to request for a custom sample or a free cabinet painting estimate.

The first step in refinishing a client's bathroom or kitchen cabinets starts with a free estimate. After receiving a request for an estimate, they will send a professional expert to visit the home and discuss the project with the homeowner. After a few days, Pigment will provide an estimate and an overview of how the particular project will be handled. These include details such as: recommended materials, custom color selection, and a projection of how long the project will take.

Next, they will send experienced team members to the home to start the prepping and the removal of drawer fronts and doors, which will be professionally finished at the shop. The team will also ensure that there will be minimal disruption to the homeowner's conduct of daily life in the home and they will ensure that a premium finish will be provided.

After the prepping and priming have been completed, the team will proceed with the painting of the cabinets in place. To ensure minimal disruption, they will use low to no VOC acrylic finishing products that have low odor. If a specialty painting or finish is required, they will discuss everything with the client, from application to drying times as well as provide any requested samples.

According to Christy Baker, area architects, designers, homeowners, and builders have collaborated with Pigment because of their proven ability to provide premium finishes. This and many more have resulted in Pigment getting five star reviews as indicated in the release that can be read at <https://www.pressadvantage.com/story/28689-charlottesville-cabinet-refinishing-and-painting-services-get-five-star-reviews>. From faux finishes such as striae, marble, aged/distressed effects, and more, clients are sure that they are able to deliver an artistic look as well as timeless aesthetics in terms of color and application.

They are able to paint on various materials and surfaces, such as stained wood, raw wood, formica, polyurethane, baked-on enamel, laminate, powder coating, veneer, metal, and more. They want to point out that the estimates are provided at no cost; samples are custom-made and made available for a fee; they use low odor/low VOC products whenever it is possible; and they provide individualized color consultation.

Their professional finishing shop is located half of a mile east of the historic Downtown Mall in Charlottesville and has developed a reputation of being a destination for design in Central Virginia. They have been focusing on refabbed home furnishings with an upcycled modern aesthetic. The Pigment shop has more than 2,500 square feet of workspace, including a completely enclosed, down-draft spray booth.

The team members at Pigment have a combined experience of several decades in custom paint finishes, including murals, graphics, faux, "antique" glazes, and more. Christy Baker is also available for individualized color consultation by the hour whether in the shop or in the home of the client.
