Personal Money Network Offers Cash Advance Regardless Of Credit Score

July 23, 2019

July 23, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Liberty Lake, Washington based Personal Money Network recently announced they will now be offering cash advance for individuals regardless of their credit score. The company states this is the perfect opportunity to receive emergency funds without having to deal with the hassle of going through traditional bank paperwork which may, in turn, be declined due to bad credit score. More information can be accessed through the following link: <https://personalmoneynetwork.com/cash-advance/>.

Marcia Anderson, spokesperson for Personal Money Network, asserts, "As we know how hard it can be to be facing unforeseen expenses during a time where you're low on usable cash, we are committed to helping our customers receive the financial assistance they need. We hope this will help resolve their most pressing issues while they wait for their next income to arrive, thus getting them out of the difficult situation they may have found themselves in. We have polished this process to make it as easy and fast as possible, thereby providing our customers with a reliable alternative to going through the process of requesting financial assistance from the bank."

Once the initial application has been reviewed, the agreed amount will be deposited directly on the customer's bank account, which is both quicker and less complicated than receiving the funds through the mail or other methods. The company maintains that, unlike requesting financial aid from a bank, there will be hardly any paperwork involved in their system, and the approval process does not take days, weeks, or months the way bank decisions can. Anderson asserts, "This is a process which we have built over our customer's feedback and recommendations. We take pride in being transparent throughout the whole process and effectively communicating the terms for the cash advance or other financial solution."

Furthermore, the company remarks that the most important aspect of their cash advances is the fact that customers do not necessarily need to have a perfect credit score to be eligible as a recipient. They assert that more often than not, clients will only be required to present proof of their income and meet the criteria that will be specified by the agent. The limit to these cash advances is set between $100 and $1,000, though the limit will depend on the customer's past reputation and regular income.

More information on this can be found through the following link: <https://personal-money-network.weebly.com/>. Through this online resource, the company makes recommendations, and advise their customers on the different considerations they must take when requesting a cash advance. They say, "Our cash advances are not meant to be a long-term solution, but rather a short term fix for unforeseen expenses or emergencies. They are catered towards those who are in dire need of financial aid and are facing matters that can not wait until their next payment. Due to this, those considering our services should consider other options if they are looking for long-term solutions."

The company maintains a strong commitment to their clients, bolstered by the priority they place on being transparent during the application process. In a recent review written on TrustPilot, the company received a 5-Star rating from Jamie Cole, who says, "Personal Money Network made it easy for me to obtain a cash advance with terms that were clear, concise, and easy to understand. Their program is hands-down the easiest way to find financial aid when you need a quick response without a bunch of paperwork. Thank you Personal Money Network for making an anxious process very stress-free!"

In another highly positive review, Daniel Phillips says, "Personal Money Network handled this process masterfully. They connected me with one of their trusted agents in a timely manner, and I managed to obtain the cash advance I needed to pay for my medical bills really quickly. They also went out of their way to explain every step of the process to me, as this is the first time I've requested financial assistance and did not know what to expect. Can't recommend them enough, excellent services."

Those in need of the financial services offered by Personal Money Network may contact Marcia Anderson, who will gladly guide prospective clients through their application process.
