August 12, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Guildford ENT, a plastic surgery practice with locations in London and Surrey, is pleased to invite the residents of the two cities to avail themselves of the wide variety of plastic surgery services they offer. Under San Sunkaraneni, a consultant rhinologist and ENT surgeon, the practice specialises in rhinological conditions and helps its patients manage conditions that affect their nose and sinus.

San Sunkaraneni works at the Royal Surrey County Hospital in Guildford and provides regional services in Surrey, London, Sussex, and Hampshire. He runs a fortnightly NHS outpatient clinic at Cranleigh Village Hospital and receives referrals from all across the UK. Sunkaraneni is also an honorary consultant at Ashford & St Peter's Hospitals and Epsom General Hospital. A graduate of the University of London, Sunkaraneni is a highly trained Ear, Nose, and Throat specialist, and has years of experience in helping patients with a wide variety of issues.

He completed his general ENT training in Addenbrooke's Hospital, Cambridge and, as a result of his many achievements, was selected from a highly competitive international field to spend one year undergoing sub-specialty training at St. Paul's Sinus Centre, a renowned Canadian facility. Sunkaraneni was the 2010 recipient of the Travelling Prize from the Royal Society of Medicine and later received the Travelling Fellowship from the British Rhinological Society the same year.

With research interests in nasal and sinus disease, Sunkaraneni is Principal Investigator on a national multicentre research programme looking at the causes of sinusitis and new treatments for it, says Guildford ENT. He peer reviews research papers for scientific journals and has lectured at major conferences in the UK and North America. He has also been appointed the Visiting Senior Fellow at the University of Surrey.

His qualifications and experience make it so he is fully equipped to help patients with many of the issues they experience, though Rhinology is perhaps the field he is best known for. When a patient has nose and sinus problems, they may present any of a number of different symptoms, including a blocked or runny nose, facial pain, headaches, loss of sense of smell, snoring, nosebleeds, and more. Sunkaraneni is able to diagnose and treat these issues, relying on his extensive education and experience.

Nasal issues can make life very uncomfortable, and can even have serious effects on one's health. Seeking out medical assistance can help eliminate nasal issues quickly before they cause further discomfort or damage. As Rhinoplasty, or as it is more commonly known, a nose job, is one of Sunkaraneni's specialities, he is perfectly suited to help his patients by sculpting them the perfect nose.

Ear problems can cause anything from minor discomfort to total hearing loss in those afflicted. The causes of hearing loss can be divided into two broad categories, conductive and sensorineural. Conductive causes are often easier to manage and may be, for example, the result of something as simple as a build up of earwax. Sometimes, however, they may be more complicated and require the intervention of an ear doctor. Sensorineural hearing loss is caused by viral infections, noise damage, or small growths.

No matter the cause, ear problems require the immediate attention of a qualified ear doctor and, Sunkaraneni comes with all the tools and knowledge required to treat any and all issues that may result from ear-related issues. He notes that, An assessment that consists of taking a good history, a thorough examination, and various hearing tests usually points to the correct diagnosis. Occasionally, a special type of scan called an MRI (magnetic resonance imaging) scan may be required.

Those looking for an ear, nose, and throat specialist in any of the areas serviced by San Sunkaraneni are advised to make use of his services. His skill and years of experience guarantee a solution to all problems, and he ensures that every cosmetic procedure he performs is completed with close attention to detail.
