

Manufacturer Of Car Phone Holder Mount Is Now Offering Membership Advantage Program

July 24, 2015

July 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Quality Invent, the manufacturer of a popular car phone holder sold currently on the Amazon Marketplace, is now offering customers a membership advantage program. The exclusive advantage program is currently being launched, and will provide customers with even more benefits of the phone mount.

"We're excited to be bringing this program to our loyal customers," says Jin Liew of Quality Invent. "Through the program, we'll be offering our customers information about our new product launches, special discounts coupons, and updates on our current line. It's all very exciting."

The Exclusive Advantage Program can be joined on Quality Invent's official website, and users simply have to input their email addresses to join, which in turn provides them with all the benefits listed above.

Quality Invent is the producer of the car phone mount that safeguards cell phones, holding them securely in place and allowing users to view and operate them from 4 different types of mount. It is a four-in-one unique flexible kit that provides positioning for various location and angle views, and easily attaches to any windshield, dashboards, air-vent and cd-slot.

"I've been using it for a couple of months now and I don't know what I ever did without it," says Penny, an Amazon customer. "Honestly, it's so easy to mount, I did it myself, and it allows me to drive and talk completely hands-free, without worrying about expensive Bluetooth equipment."

The phone mount fits most smartphones as well as GPS phones, iPhones, iPods, and various other cell phone brands. The benefit is allowing communication from drivers that does not require the use of their hands, which can remain firmly on the wheel for safer driving. The mount can be installed in all vehicles either on the windshield, dashboards, air-vent, cd-slot and offers a number of features.

In addition to the advantage program, Quality Invent provides a number of products designed to help drivers store and care for their phones. The program itself will allow users of the mount to gain new insights into products that the company plans to release in the future, as well as discounts on the phone mount and other products.
