Las Vegas, NV based St. Regis Labs has launched their newest health product on the Amazon marketplace. Healthy Hair Essentials is a supplement that contains biotin, which is well-known for its benefits to hair. For a limited time, St. Regis Labs is offering customers a 50 percent off coupon that can be used toward the purchase of their Healthy Hair Essentials at Amazon. More information about the promo can be found at <http://www.gforcedeals.com/launch-promo>.

The biotin-based supplement promotes healthy hair in men and women alike. Biotin enhances the natural luster of the hair and can help to alleviate hair loss and brittle or breaking hair. It is widely used by salon owners and has become very popular among celebrities looking for healthier and shinier hair, and St. Regis Labs wants to provide their customers with a discount for trying it.

Scientific research done on biotin over the past few years have proven its benefits for the hair, skin, and nails. The properties of biotin help hair to grow longer and fuller, help the skin to be clearer, and the nails to grow healthier. Biotin has been found to be an excellent nutrient for all types of hair from fine to thicker, African American hair, and can help hair to be less frizzy.

Healthy Hair Essentials contains a blend of ingredients that enable hair to grow longer and thicker. It infuses hair with biotin as well as zinc, folic acid, Vitamins A and C, and saw palmetto, among other nutrients.

"We're all about quality," says Ron Rose of St. Regis Labs. "We want our customers to experience the best products, and we always back up our products with excellent customer service and a full money back guarantee."

Sarah R., a salon owner in NYC, speaks highly of biotin products. She says, "I always recommend biotin supplements to my clients, particularly those with thinning hair or just anyone who wants a salon healthy shine even when they don't have time to visit the salon."
