

Rent A Laptop In Fairfield NSW With Accessible Payment Options

July 22, 2019

July 22, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Easy Payment Options, along with their highly successful product range, 'Rent Laptops?', recently announced the expansion of their services into Fairfield, New South Wales, where residents can now enjoy their laptop and tablet rental services. The company provides accessible funding options for different work assets, providing individuals with the tools they need to fulfil their jobs effectively, in an affordable fashion. They have invited those interested in this opportunity to visit the following link to learn more: <http://rentlaptops.com.au/fairfield>.

The company notes that a lack of convenient access, coupled with prohibitive pricing, is often why members of the community delay making upgrades to their electronics. Even among individuals who have a stable full-time or part-time job, the acquisition of new electronics may be low on their list of priorities. In addition to this expense, the sheer variety of products and specifications often makes it difficult for the average customer to make an informed choice. This leads them to keep using their old electronics, even when these devices stop working properly and create more hardships and hassle than is necessary.

Easy Payment Options seeks to tackle this issue, through their Rent Laptops range, by providing options for those who want a new laptop or tablet but cannot afford expensive repayments. Payment options available include payment via Direct Debit or for Government Payment Recipients.

Richard van der Velde, a representative of the company, asserts, "Due to the high costs, people tend to use their electronics for a long time after they are already obsolete, and are nearing an unusable state. We have noticed that people prefer to live with the frustration of using their slow laptops, which should have been replaced long ago. We provide advice for our clients to help them find an option that fits their needs best, whether they need a device that is smaller and easier to carry than their current one, or a laptop where they can watch movies, play games, and download music."

Rent Laptops takes pride in making their clients' needs their foremost priority, asserting that this commitment is one of the traits that sets them apart from their competitors. "We are different because we genuinely try to find a solution that works for you," states van der Velde. "We treat every client with respect, dignity, integrity, and complete honesty. You will talk to a real person, not a computer, during the application process, who will guide you through our different options and collect the information we need to determine whether or not you are an eligible recipient for our rental services. If we happen to decline your application and you believe we should have approved it, we are more than happy to listen to your thoughts and often change the decision if the person concerned has valid reasons."

Rent Laptops also strives to maintain a hassle-free and transparent application process for their rentals. While other companies try to sell the most expensive item on their catalogue, Rent Laptops works alongside their clients to determine their precise requirements. Using this information, they are able to suggest an appropriate new laptop or tablet that their client may be interested in. At this point, both company and client will work together once again to formulate a payment plan that both fits the client's budget and allows them to enjoy their new acquisition without worrying about payment terms.

The excellent customer service and great opportunities offered by Rent Laptops is often the subject of high praise in the reviews that the company receives online. In a recent review written on the company's Google page, Shane Smith says, "When my eight-year-old laptop suddenly stopped working, it was no surprise to me. Unfortunately, I did not have the money to purchase a new one straight away, but I needed one as I handle a great part of my work from home. That's when I contacted Rent Laptops, who offered me a great rental deal for a great machine, Totally recommended!"
