Salisbury, North Carolina based Greenserve is pleased to announce that their crawlspace encapsulation services are now available. Helping the community solve their moisture and mold-related issues before they derive into health threats, Greenserve is a renowned company that has been operating in Salisbury for over 25 years. They provide custom waterproofing systems and effective building envelope solutions for new construction and retrofits of older homes and businesses.

"It?s moisture that starts the problems?mold growth and wood rot," asserts Garrett Bean, a representative of Greenserve. "They attack the very foundation of your home, destroying its structural integrity. They even attack your family?s health by filling the crawlspace air with mold spores and allergens that trigger allergy attacks, coughing, wheezing, eye irritation, and even chronic lung disease. Eventually, if left unchecked, it will affect your home?s property value.

Greenserve states that crawlspace encapsulation or sealing is the best way to ensure that what may begin as small signs of moisture does not develop into structural damage or mold. They explain that, since many do not know the importance of proper insulation of crawlspaces, it is often the case that leaks start occuring.

Given the warmth of the space and other favorable aspects, this can lead to the growth of mold.

Bean says, "In this important matter that many overlook, we have two clear missions: To inform our clients of the risks that come from the lack of proper encapsulation and to solve any of the problems that may already be present in a home's crawlspace or basement. Through the use of thoroughly tested methods, the best tools available, and an expert crew, we are able to dissipate any mold growth or similar issues along with our client's concerns. We are certified and licensed specialists, which means that our clients can rely on us to insulate their crawlspaces properly."

Greenserve offers a protective encapsulation system which they assert prevents crawlspace moisture from rising into the home or building, providing a strong and durable barrier that will help keep a crawlspace healthy and dry. Additionally, the company complements this with a pumping system that serves the purpose of alerting homeowners whenever a water leak from any source reaches the pump. Through these measures, the company ensures they provide a comprehensive service that can remedy any leak based issue a client may have.

Known as one of the best crawlspace specialists in the area, Greenserve has become the preferred choice of Salisbury residents whenever any unwanted water reaches their basement. They have served hundreds of residents within the area, leaving nothing but satisfied customers to speak of their excellent services. The crawlspace experts also feature some of their latest customer reviews on their official website.

In one of these reviews, Daniel Brown says, "For over five years, my family and I had been living in a home which had no crawlspace insulation. We did not know of the risks that come from not having it, as we did not even know that it was even necessary or an option. I read one of the articles published by Greenserve, and was immediately concerned about not knowing whether or not we had any insulation in our basement?which turns out we didn't. Garrett and his team came by in a timely manner and evaluated the situation quickly. Fortunately, we live in a dry area and no water was going into our crawlspace, but I was not going to take the chance anymore. They waterproofed the crawlspace and installed an alert system to notify us of any future leaks, which should not happen under normal circumstances. I now rest easy knowing that my family is under no threat of mold allergies or lung infections, and I thank Greenserve for it."

For more information regarding Greenserve's crawlspace encapsulation services, interested parties may contact Garrett Bean. Additionally, they may also request a free consultation, during which the company?s specialists will evaluate the extent of the water damage on a property and estimate the ensuing cost of repairs and cleaning.
