August 03, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

AdvantaVita recently announced the addition of a vitamin line to its offerings. The Deerfield Beach, Florida company has been in operation since 2008, although vitamins are a new product for them. The company has come up with a vitamin D supplement that comes in the form of softgels. Research suggests that the softgel is better than other forms of delivery for fat-soluble vitamins, aside from making it convenient to swallow.

"We're excited to be adding the vitamin business to our portfolio," says Chris Johnson, spokesperson for AdvantaVita. "We will be offering the Vitamin D3 5000 IU with organic extra virgin olive oil exclusively on Amazon. We strive to offer our customers products with optimum efficacy, and we believe that using organic and non-GMO ingredients is the best way to achieve this."

Studies have shown that non-GMO products have a higher nutritional value than those that are genetically modified. It has been suggested by research that GMO products have about half as much potassium and other nutrients, and significantly lower levels of magnesium.

Some physicians recommend organic foods to their patients because they have been grown without the use of chemical fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, drugs, hormones and antibiotics.

Meanwhile, studies have suggested that a large percentage of people could be lacking in vitamin D. This is unfortunate because research has shown that this vitamin can protect the bones, teeth and muscles. This vitamin has also been found to play a vital role in the immune system, as well as breast, prostate gland, heart, and colon health.

The AdvantaVita high potency vitamin D, which can be seen at <http://www.amazon.com/AdvantaVita-Vitamin-Natural-Organic-softgels/dp/B00Z7G70WS>, is designed to protect against Vitamin D deficiency and is made using organic extra virgin olive oil. It has the same biological form of vitamin D that is produced by the human body when it is exposed to natural sunlight. This vitamin provides the same benefits, without the risks associated with the sun's UV rays.
