Ciao Bella Marketing, a digital marketing agency based in Miami, Florida, has announced that they are offering their expertise in the marketing of luxury real estate, yachting and exclusive destinations around the world. Their clients range from private yachts for charter in Miami to private golf and membership clubs in Aspen (<https://ciaobellamarketing.com/our-work/snowmass-club-memberships/>) and oceanfront developments in the Florida Keys.

The company has offices in Miami, Aspen, and Mexico City, and the founders of Ciao Bella Marketing have more than four decades of marketing experience and expertise. They have assembled an international team of strategic marketing and technology experts who are proficient in online marketing, brand development, communication design, advertising, and Internet technology.

Josh Stein, a spokesperson for Ciao Bella Marketing, says, "Our team of global strategic specialists has created some of the industries most innovative and adaptable sales and online marketing tools for top companies and producers in the real estate market. Having the opportunity to work with some of the most prestigious companies in the industry, Ciao Bella has developed both the knowledge and expertise to create fully integrated online branding and marketing campaigns for any company in any industry.?

Ciao Bella Marketing offers services with regards to providing attractive and functional real estate website design. More about this can be gleaned from <https://ciaobellamarketing.com/products/real-estate-websites/>. From using scalable designs that can grow with the client's business, to offering a simple way for the client to manage website content, the company can help nurture the client's online presence and help make the website the main resource for gaining new clients and business associates.

Ciao Bella Marketing has been creating some of the most powerful WordPress websites for agents and brokers for over 10 years. They have also a lot of experience in developing advanced IDX/MLS solutions for real estate agents and brokers since 2003. Ciao Bella Marketing can also help with yacht brokerage, yacht charters, and yacht destinations. Clients who require such services can simply enter their details on an online form.

One important client being served by the company is Snowmass Club, which is a private member's club that offers the various comforts of home in just one place, with resort service and a wide range of amenities in an exclusive club lifestyle. Snowmass Club offers beautiful views of Mt. Daly and Capitol Peak. The club has evolved into the ideal mountain lifestyle for year-round residents, second homeowners, and owners of private residences.

The online campaigns offered by Ciao Bella Marketing are based on the latest Internet technologies, including WordPress integration for total control of the site's content; responsive design for optimal viewing of the website on any computer or mobile device; advanced map integration for seamless property search and integration; CRM management that offers a built-in database for all client marketing activities; custom IDX that allows property search seamlessly on any computer or mobile device 24/7; advanced SEO that provides exposure and accelerated rankings on search engines; and newsletter integration for each website, allowing lead capture and distribution of targeted email campaigns.

Meanwhile, additional services designed to enhance the client's brand include social media integration, identity + brand development, pay per click advertising, email marketing, and marketing support services.

Ciao Bella Marketing also has a blog page on its website that offers helpful content to luxury real estate, yachting and exclusive destinations businesses to improve their marketing efforts. For instance, they have published an article that explains why there is no need to spend thousands on a real estate website. This is helpful because it allows clients to save thousands of dollars that are usually spent on personal real estate websites just to attract leads. They point out that while it is advisable to have a great real estate website, it doesn't have to cost a fortune. According to them, a successful real estate website only needs four things: a solid IDX platform; a good CRM system; a simple and easy to use navigation menu; and good content.
