

Surf Till 100 Developing Surfing Environmental Leaders

July 30, 2019

Princeville, Hawaii - July 30, 2019 -

Surf Till 100, based in Princeville, Hawaii, has announced a new leadership program. The organization recently announced that they are developing this program for those who want to live long and healthy lives to become responsible leaders in the world.

Tom Woods, one of the collaborators of the program along with Co-founders Champion Surfers Felipe Pomar and Jeff Hakman, says, "We want everyone to be healthier and live longer and happier lives. One of the ways to do this is to find a place in leadership. Our leadership program will help people to become true champions for humanity and for our planet." Those who are interested in reading more about the new leadership program can do so at <https://home.surftill100.com/Leadership>.

Woods says that the culture of the organization is one of the main focuses and one of the determining factors for a successful organization. He adds that Surf Till 100's culture focuses on their mission, their values, their vision and ethics, as well as their goals and expectations and their overall work environment.

"Our culture is who we are," says Woods. "Culture is our DNA. It's what we are made of and it is important to focus on that culture, particularly when developing leaders. We want leaders who have a strong vision, who have the right values. That's what this program is all about."

The new leadership page can be seen on the official website for Surf Till 100. The leadership page will discuss key elements that can assist anyone in becoming a champion and making a difference in their own lives, as well as in the lives of others.

“We have heard that everything begins and ends with leadership,” says Woods. “This is true and as we age, as time goes on, we want to share with others how to make a difference; how to go the right way and how to encourage others to go the right way. Leaders are needed to guide others into the right path and we hope that this is what this new program will help to create; people who are ready to help other people.”

Surf Till 100 regularly hosts events, such as their expedition to Northern Peru that they will host in May of 2020. The organization centers around the thought that surfing can keep the body young and they regularly hold events that encourage others to learn the art of surfing and experience the excitement that it offers.

Some say that Surfing was created as an ancient means of worship to the ocean. It has been around for centuries and is one of the oldest sports in the world that is still being practiced today. Surfing is considered to be a very addictive sport and Woods says that once a person learns how to surf, they never want to stop. He adds that surfing is not just for the young in body. In fact, there are a number of surfers around the world, including his partners Jeff Hakman and Felipe Pomar, who are past 70 years of age and who are still very active in the sport. Woods says that the entire organization believes that people should in fact, surf until they are 100 or older.

He adds that the new leadership program is something that the organization is excited about, as they believe that the world needs leaders who follow good examples. Those who are interested in learning more about the new leadership program can visit the organization on their official website at <http://surftill100.com>. The website offers more information about the goals and vision of the organization, as well as their culture and what they believe in.

Woods says that anyone who has never tried surfing should consider doing so and he adds that the leadership page is not something that will be only be available for those in Hawaii. He says that just as surfing can be done in various places around the world, he hopes that Surf Till 100 can help to train leaders from various locations around the world and urges those who are interested to learn more on the website.
