A damaged laptop or PC can put one?s life on hold completely. Many people use their laptops and PCs for storage, work, and socializing, among many other things, and when their device is damaged to the point where it is difficult or impossible to use, they often find that their lives almost come to a standstill. Many ?big box? stores and franchises handle each customer as one of millions and care more about making as large a profit as possible. This can often result in clients receiving subpar service while paying hefty fees as the store chases greater profits. Twin Cities PC Repair strives to offer their customers a markedly different experience. ?We strive to create real, lasting relationships with our customers so you know you can count on us as your go-to computer shop,? says the company. Each client is treated as an individual and their devices are handled with the utmost care.

?Patrick with Twin Cities PC Repair is a lifesaver,? says one of the PC repair shop?s clients. ?I am self-employed and rely on my computer for almost every aspect of my career. When my computer would no longer charge I stopped at Best Buy?as they were the only people I knew of at the time (and where I bought the computer)?to see if they could fix it. They quoted me 4-6 weeks for the work and potentially $400! Not having my computer for that long was not an option, and I bought the computer for less than what they quoted. I thought I was going to be stuck with having to get a whole new computer. I let Google do the work and Patrick's info was the first that came up. I contacted him, dropped my computer off, and had a quote for repair in 24 hours. He got my computer back to me within a week and it was not $400! I will absolutely recommend Twin Cities PC Repair to others, and while I hope I don't have other issues with my computer, I will definitely go back to Patrick if I do.?

Twin Cities residents looking for quick, affordable, and reliable computer repair services are encouraged to turn to Twin Cities PC Repair. With the company?s skilled and experienced technicians on hand to fix any and all issues, clients are guaranteed to have the best chance to walk away with a PC that works like new.
