Clinton Township, Michigan based Miller's Home Improvement is delighted to announce that they have received another glowing review via the Google platform. Eric Miller, the company founder, states, "We value feedback from everyone we work with. We also invite all our customers, new and old alike, to leave their honest opinions on their preferred platform."

The company attributes their success largely to their extensive experience in the field, combined with their dedication to serving their community. Another key factor, they say, is their outstanding team of passion-driven experts who each share the same commitment. The recent review was written by Justin Lucas, who posted in their capacity as an employee.

Lucas said, "I have known Eric Miller since 2012. He has trained me from scratch in the trade over the years. Although Miller's Home Improvement is my current employer, I also consider Eric a great friend—always lending a helping hand and answering any questions asked. I am a perfectionist and love the fact that, every day at work, we make it a perfect experience for every person/homeowner that we come in contact with. Thanks, Eric, and I look forward to many great years to come with Miller's Home Improvement!"

"Employee feedback and loyalty like this, coupled with customer satisfaction based on professional service, is a winning combination for us," continued Miller. "We proudly serve the communities of Detroit, Macomb, Sterling Heights, Southfield, St. Clair Shores, Troy, Royal Oak, and so on." Interested parties may request an evaluation from the company for any of their residential and commercial roofing services, including maintenance, repairs, and even the complete installation of a replacement roof.

Their latest 5-star review gives them top marks. In it, customer Warren Staple says that Miller's Home Improvement was, "Friendly," and did, "great work! Eric, and his workers are good!" The company takes pride in exceeding their customers' expectations and responding in full to any questions. They can provide a thorough inspection of the roofing project in question and offer advice on what precisely what needs to be done. They can even help homeowners finance their roofing work, taking the stress out of a major investment by offering a combination of zero interest and no payments for 12 months.

Andrea Jones, another delighted customer, echoed this in their 5-Star review, saying that the company delivered, "Superb customer service. Mr. Miller is very committed to his craft. This project was a tough job and he made sure it was done to the highest standards. It required tedious work and Mr Miller ensured it was all done correctly without cutting corners. Always went above and beyond. Even weeks/months after the work was completed, Mr Miller responded to our needs and concerns. Very knowledgeable. No pressure selling. Hands down, I would recommend Miller's Home Improvement to anyone."
