July 31, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Santa Fe Directory, based in Santa Fe, New Mexico, has announced that local businesses in Santa Fe, New Mexico can now have 360 Interior Street View Virtual Tours added to their business listing on the Santa Fe business directory. This has been made possible by Rio Bravo Media, which has been accredited as a Google Trusted Street View Photographer that specializes in 360 Interior Street View Virtual Tours.

A spokesperson for Santa Fe Directory says, "With these virtual tours businesses can virtually invite customers to explore the inside and outside details of their establishment. Santa Fe Directory allows people to take a look at the different businesses, restaurants, hotels and inns in Santa Fe so that when they move to the city or visit the city, they already have an idea of what they can expect. With the virtual tour, potential clients can see what it is like to go inside a particular business establishment, which has been observed to increase their chances of actually visiting that particular business."

Rio Bravo Media is currently offering Santa Fe businesses the chance to have a Google Maps Indoor Street View Virtual Tour of their place of business, both inside and out. The embedded virtual tours will be able to function properly on any computer, laptop, smartphone, or mobile device. The virtual tour can also be placed directly on sales presentations, Facebook, websites, and in emails. The virtual tours offer one of the most engaging, cost-effective, and far-reaching marketing tools for businesses in Santa Fe.

They want to emphasize to local businesses that local search results on Google are very competitive. Thus, a virtual tour may just be what is required to provide the boost needed to help the business differentiate itself from other similar businesses. Statistics has shown that the addition of a virtual tour can increase customer engagement online, which increases the chances of them actually going to the business establishment.

In particular, virtual tours have been observed to double the interest in the business. Therefore, the virtual tours provided by the Rio Bravo Media Google Street View Trusted Photographers have been found to step up the sales of the business.

The Street View technology employed by the photographers at Rio Bravo Media LLC can bring that specific business establishment to life in a high quality 360-degree, interactive tour. This virtual tour can be accessed through Google Search results, and Google Maps and will be able to offer potential customers a better sense of the ambiance, décor, and layout of the establishment.
