The Groutsmith is part of a nationwide chain of tile repair and restoration services for businesses and homeowners.

?Any company that wants to remain in business today has got to meet customer demand and expectations,? said Jonathan Smith, Founder of The Groutsmith. ?We have and will continue to work with vendors that can supply us with superior and longer-lasting products for our customers. Our lineup of services now include granite and natural stone sealing, and we recently moved to a sealing product that is guaranteed for ten years.?

Businesses and residences in Charlotte have incorporated a great deal of stone, tile and other surfaces and flooring that utilize grout to hold the products together. and grouting tiles for the region for years, restoring property to its original state and improving value. The new list of services was created in order to meet the demand of area residents for more long-lasting sealants and new restoration options.
