Sydney, Australia based Global Office Machines recently announced the launch of Hewlett Packard?s HP DesignJet T530 24-Inch Printer. James, Product Manager at Global Office Machines, stated, ?Since this is sure to be a popular value for money choice, we have decided to offer our loyal customers the ability to order the quantities they require. We welcome enquiries from those who would like to come on board with us to secure a new machine today? The company provides Australia Wide Delivery, and those who wish to order can find out more through this link: https://gom.com.au/hp-designjet-t530-24-inch-printer-5zy60a/.

The HP DesignJet T530 is sure to be a popular choice thanks to its 24-inch wide format which can print up to A1 sized pages. It features a high resolution, with up to 2400 dots per inch providing accurate, sharp details, making it an essential upgrade for teams that need to print large-format documents or even A1 size posters. AEC (Architectural/Engineering/Construction) industries, for instance, can remotely print out CAD drawings with ease through HP?s ePrint functionality. With its dynamic security, authorised users can even use their smartphones to print documents stored in the cloud.

The HP T530 is cost-effective to run and does not jeopardise the quality of its output, enabling the printing of a range of sizes from A4/A3 all the way to A1. Its minimum line width of 0.02mm means users can produce bold images and sharp lines on various media sizes through either the paper sheet input tray or roll feeder. Notably, the device does not compromise on speed as it is capable of printing A1 sheets at 30 seconds per page. Many companies have found that they can speed up their PDF printing processes and save time by printing on demand in-house on plain paper. Smart managers looking to minimise their risk will also be delighted to learn that it comes with a two-year limited hardware warranty.
