Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. in Valdosta Georgia has announced that they are providing auto accident attorney services in Valdosta and neighboring areas. Auto accidents can happen for many reasons but if there is negligent vehicle usage, the person who caused the accident may be held liable for the suffering and injuries that the accident victim has experienced. It is the job of the auto accident attorney to examine each case and help the client in getting compensation.

?Every case that enters into a Valdosta personal injury attorney?s office is unique. Each person will have suffered a different type of event; each person will have suffered different injuries. A professional injury attorney will look at each case, and all of the circumstances, and help the injured party claim their rightful compensation,? says Tim Derrickson, marketing director at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C.

He continues, ?When you have been injured in a vehicular accident, you have rights to fair and complete compensation. The law states that the offending party, or their insurer, must ?make right? the damages that the victimized party has endured.?

Vehicular accidents can include those accidents that involve automobiles, motorcycles, tractor trailer/semi trucks, commercial vehicles, public transportation vehicles, boats, recreational vehicles, and four wheelers. The reasons for auto accidents include distracted driving, failure to yield, driving too fast for conditions, lack of understanding how the vehicle operates, sleepiness, mechanical failure, and carelessness or reckless driving.

Those who have been injured in an auto accident have rights to complete and fair compensation. According to the law, the offending party, or their insurer, has to ?make right? the damages that the victim has endured. Compensation claims may be in the form of: vehicle repairs or replacement; medical expenses, both present and future that are related to the accident; lost wages; damages for pain and suffering, and loss of enjoyment of life; rental vehicles until the vehicle has been replaced; employment training if the victim cannot return to their work; and future loss of wages if the injured party has become disabled.

Valdosta auto accident lawyers will determine, using the case facts, if there is any additional compensation that can be asked for. And for those who have lost a loved one due to an accident, they may be entitled to further compensation from the offending party. The lawyer will be able to determine if there is a cause of action to file a wrongful death suit against the insurance firm.

The injuries that can be sustained due to an auto accident can be minor but long-lasting, cause permanent disability, or even cause death. Most accident victims are unable to work while they are recovering, putting a financial burden on themselves and their loved ones. Victims are advised to first seek medical attention and the look for legal advice.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. has several practice areas. These include car accidents, medical malpractice, wrongful death, workers compensation and workplace injuries, overtime and unpaid wages, insurance bad faith, dangerous products and premises, and nursing home abuse.

Ken Nugent, in addition to being a skilled and accomplished Georgia accident lawyer, has also been supporting the Georgia communities served by his legal team.
