

Personal Injury Attorney Comments On Car Accident On I-285 Atlanta GA

August 08, 2019

Atlanta, Georgia - August 08, 2019 -

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. in Atlanta, Georgia, has announced that they have recently published on their website a post that comments on the car accident on I-285 Atlanta. One vehicle that was involved in the accident was a black sedan and this was seriously damaged and off the side of the road in the grass. Injuries have been reported and the firm wants to point out that it is such injuries that can have a significant impact on the lives of accident victims.

“Accidents that take place on our highways are among some of the worst and leave lasting impacts on the lives of many,” says Tim Derrickson, marketing director at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C.

Tim continues, “In one recent week, approximately 1,098 people are injured in car accidents across the entire state, many of which lead to disastrous results like medical bills and lost wages from missed time at work. No matter what, you have options if you have received injuries in an accident that you believe took place due to the fault of others. For this, our car accident attorneys are here to assist you.”

The personal injury lawyer from Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. can handle various cases on personal injury, transportation and vehicle accidents, defective products and dangerous drugs, and overtime and unpaid wages.

Personal injury cases include medical malpractice, wrongful death, slip and fall, workers' compensation, and nursing home abuse. Transportation and vehicle accidents include car wrecks, 18-wheeler truck accidents, recreational vehicle accidents, motorcycle accidents, and boating and maritime accidents. Defective products and dangerous drugs include dangerous drugs and defective medical devices and defective products. Wrongful death may be due to motor vehicle accidents, medical malpractice, nursing home abuse, unsafe premises, inadequate or faulty security, and workplace accidents.

Meanwhile, the lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. have been representing victims of Georgia car accidents for 25 years. Such accidents often result into serious injuries, such as whiplash, spinal injuries, and head traumas. Those who are victims of car accidents are usually confused because such cases can be complicated. They would like to advise victims to get the appropriate medical attention first. The lawyers can even help them in finding qualified doctors for their particular injuries. And after their medical needs have been addressed, it would be time to contact a personal injury lawyer.

The personal injury attorney will look into the many factors of the case before filing a car accident lawsuit. These factors include the extent of the injuries, proving the negligence of the other drivers, and property damage. A settlement should be able to cover the pain and suffering, medical bills, property damage, and lost wages. How the injury has affected the victim's quality of life will also be a key factor in arriving at the amount of a settlement.

The lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. are also knowledgeable and experienced in dealing with insurance companies, filing a lawsuit whenever it is needed, to get the victim full and fair compensation. Victims of accidents can visit the office of the firm in Atlanta and seven other locations in Georgia. They can help victims with a free case review to find out the extent of the injuries suffered and the kind of auto accident claim that can be pursued.

Of course, with legal services, it is the result that matters and the firm has a long list of successful results. These include a $3.95 million award for an auto accident resulting into paraplegic and long term care; a $2.5 million award for the death of the victim in an auto accident; and a $528,938 award for pelvis and cervical fracture resulting from an auto accident.
