Bridgeview, IL based Imperial Crane Services, Inc. is pleased to report that they were successfully able to rescue a Chicago Fire Department fire engine after the city called on them for assistance. Given that the company provides emergency crane services in Chicago, Imperial Crane had the resources to get a crane onsite with minimal delay.

According to ABC7 Chicago, the engine was parked on the top level of a South Shore two-storey garage a short while before noon on August 6, when part of the floor beneath the vehicle gave way and fell to the bottom level. This left the engine precariously suspended by its rear half and front bumper on sections of the garage that had not collapsed. ABC7 states that, ?The fire department was responding to a call at the Symphony of South Shore nursing home next to the garage when the collapse happened. Workers inside the nursing home said it sounded and felt like an earthquake.?

Fire officials emptied the truck of 500 gallons of water to help ensure the floor wouldn?t collapse further. Due to the vehicle?s remaining weight of 38,000 lbs, however, they were unable to safely extricate the engine until Imperial Crane arrived. Work crews then labored to remove the engine from the parking garage with the aid of the company?s crane, and the vehicle was successfully rescued a short while later. According to a tweet from the Chicago Fire Department, the fire engine was deemed capable of driving to a shop for repairs.

Had the vehicle been completely destroyed, it is estimated that it would have cost the city of Chicago up to $500,000 to replace. At the time it was removed, the gap that the engine left behind still forced around 20 vehicles, including a police cruiser, to remain stranded on the upper level of the parking garage. Illustrating Imperial Crane?s impeccable safety and service record, the emergency project was carried out with no added injury to personnel or damage to surrounding property. Notably, the company wields a versatile array of crane-related services in addition to their emergency response capabilities.
