Metal Roofing Company London Gets a 5-Star Review from a New Customer

August 12, 2019

August 12, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Cub Roofing is a company that serves London, Ontario and the surrounding area. They offer a large variety of both commercial and residential roofing services. Among their most popular roofing services are their metal roof installations. They are a contractor that is known to work hard to make every metal roofing project they take on turn out just right. A good indicator of this came in a review that a new metal roofing customer wrote.

John Tibber of London, Ontario had this to say in his review, "I cannot express how great this roofing company was! From the very start to the end. We got exactly what we wanted for roof color and style. I would recommend them to anyone looking for a really good roofing company here in London, Ontario."

Company spokesperson Bella Reynolds talked about what the company does to get great reviews like this one; she said, "There is a combination of steps we take to satisfy every customer that we do roofing work for. It all starts with exceptional workmanship. We have well-trained crews that use the best equipment to get our roofing jobs completed. Our philosophy also includes providing great customer service from the first time a person contacts us to the completion of the work and beyond. Cub Roofing also makes it a point to keep our pricing fair and competitive and we offer a 100% customer satisfaction guarantee on the roofing work that we do.?

Reynolds also said, "We are proud to be a popular metal roofing company London option. These are the perfect type of roofs to install to handle the area's sometimes harsh weather conditions. They are even very good at shedding the heavy snows that blanket the area from time to time. Metal roofs are a great looking, low-maintenance type of roof that will help any home stand out from those around it."

This contractor offers several different choices of metal roof coverings. These include roofing panels that are made out of coated steel and aluminum. They also offer traditional corrugated and highly-decorative copper roofing options.

One of the company's most popular metal roofing choices is their standing seam roofing panels. These are a great option for those that want a beautiful looking roof that will remain that way for decades. It's almost impossible for these advanced metal roofing panels to leak too because they are seamed together much higher than where the water runs off them. Standing seam metal roofing panels often require special equipment to hoist them up in the air and additional roof bracing to support them but they are well worth this extra effort.

There are also many other residential roofing services that Cub Roofing offers. They do roof repairs, roof leak detection, and can even install a complete roof on a new home. Some of the popular roof coverings they work with include traditional shingle, wood shake, and architectural shingle. Cub roofing also offers complete roof replacements for those older homes that are in need of them. They offer emergency roof repairs too where a company representative will show up the same day to determine how to best handle a customer's immediate roofing needs.

Cub roofing is also a commercial flat roof repair specialist. Their crews are experienced at putting down a variety of flat roof coverings. This includes such products as EPDM rubber roofing materials and more advanced thermoplastic polyolefin (TPO) rubber roof coverings. They also work with traditional flat roof coverings such as Modified Bitumen and Tar & Gravel. Their strongest and longest lasting commercial roofing solution is their PVC roof coatings.

On that same listing, a person can also view a map of their approximate service area.
