The dealership takes pride in the variety of GMC and Buick vehicles they offer to their distinguished buyers. With their highly experienced sales and management team, Vestal Buick GMC strives to give each customer an enjoyable and efficient buying experience. At first glance, the 2020 GMC Sierra HD AT4 is a large, no-nonsense off-roading truck. Taking a closer look, however, will reveal that it is a more complex vehicle than is readily apparent. GMC understands that maneuvering such a large truck can be daunting to some drivers, especially for first-time truck owners. Fortunately, the truck is equipped with four HD cameras that display the vehicle?s surroundings on the 15-inch display mounted on the dashboard. The high-tech pickup truck also boasts an entertainment system that is compatible with both Android Auto and Apple CarPlay. The updated technology featured in the newest GMC Sierra allows drivers to haul large loads on almost any type of terrain, all while enjoying the luxurious interior.

Along with sleek interior and updated technology, the truck now offered at Vestal Buick GMC is an extremely powerful vehicle. Built to please both average and working owners, GMC aims to ensure that any job can get done in their truck. With a 6.6 liter diesel engine that boasts 455 horsepower, as well as a towing strength of up to 35,500 pounds, the GMC Sierra HD can get both the driver and whatever they are hauling where they need to be.

To further improve the truck's powerful engine, GMC has given the 2020 Sierra HD AT4 the ability to adapt to almost any terrain. For owners who expect to drive on a variety of landscapes, the truck offers an additional Traction Select System that allows the driver to adjust the built-in driving settings enroute. This new system includes Hill Descent Control, Hill Start Assist, Auto Electric Park Brake, and Park Grade Hold Assist. Along with the Traction Select System, the 2020 GMC Sierra HD AT4 comes with off-road suspension, skid plates, and Rancho Shocks that further improve the truck's off-roading capabilities.
