

Joel's Pro Tree Service Of Oakwood Celebrates New Customer Review

August 13, 2019

August 13, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Joel's Pro Tree Service of Oakwood, Ohio has recently received a new customer review extolling the thoughtful and dedicated nature of their services. Notably, this review is only the most recent in a number of similarly positive posts left by their customers.

The review was posted to the Google review platform, where Joel's Pro Tree Service holds an admirable overall review score of 4.3/5 Stars. James Gordon, the customer, states that the company did a, "Wonderful, quality job. Joel is an amazing person and made sure I was satisfied with the job before he left. I requested a trimming service for some overgrown trees in my backyard, and everything was left clean, and the job was done right. Easily the most professional and most respected work I have seen in a while; good to see a working man out there earning his dollar. Fantastic job, Joel. Gorgeous truck, too."

The company takes great pride in receiving such reviews from their customers, as they assert that their priority is to provide a service they can be proud of and the community can rely on. In an older customer review, Connor says, "The recent winds and rain put me in a dire situation when a tree fell just outside my house, blocking the entry to my garage. I called a couple of other companies in the area, but they said they would be busy for the rest of the day and could not remove the tree blocking my garage. Joel's Pro Tree Service was the only company who stated they would move their schedule around and pay me a visit towards the end of the day. They showed up and managed to remove the fallen tree within a couple of hours, finally freeing my garage space. I can't recommend them enough, I do not know what I would have done without them."

The company states that emergency tree removal is a core part of their services. They understand the difficulties that a fallen tree can cause a household, given that it is both unsafe and extremely inconvenient. Affirming that they give emergency calls the utmost priority, the company does their best to respond to such calls for help the same day the service is requested, within reason.

"A fallen tree could damage power lines, or injure pedestrians if it is not taken care of properly," notes Joel's Pro Tree Service. In cases like Connor's, it could also block a property's primary entry. The company continues, "In these situations, it is of the utmost importance that you call upon a professional to safely remove all of the debris and branches that have fallen on your property. Improper handling of fallen trees can put all the parties involved in danger, causing even more problems than there were to begin with. At Joel's, we have a team of professionals that are licensed and insured to deal with such problems. Our clients can rely on us to handle all their tree-related headaches."

Having served the Oakwood community since 2017, the company has managed to earn a reputation for being one of the best tree service companies in the area. Despite being new to the area, they already offer a comprehensive lineup of tree care and tree removal services, such as Plant Health Care, Pruning & Trimming, and more. As these services are available for both commercial and residential clients, the company is able to complete a variety of projects regardless of their complexity. This may include removing and cleaning up trees at construction projects, or simply improving a house's look by trimming overgrown trees. Joel's Pro Tree Service of Oakwood relies on a team of experts with several years of experience in the field, accompanied by top-notch equipment that is specially crafted to handle any kind of tree service.
