HauntRave.com, a haunted house review site based out of Chicago, Illinois, is proud to announce that they now provide an easy means for fear enthusiasts to find haunted attractions. The website features haunted houses in a variety of locations, including Chattanooga, Chicago, Los Angeles, New Orleans, New York City, Orlando, Salem, San Francisco, and more.

Jack Lombardi, a representative for HauntRave says that the website, ?was created with one goal in mind: give ghouls and gals a reliable website to find new haunted attractions. At HauntRave.com, you can easily search for haunted attractions across the continental US. There are hundreds of haunted attractions available around the country. With HauntRave.com, you can quickly find something that fits your personal tastes.?

He continues, ?The problem with most haunted attractions is not that they are lacking in quality or scares. The problem is that they don?t often have a large budget to dedicate to marketing. People are always out there looking for thrills, but since many attractions don?t have the necessary exposure, they aren?t getting any attention from these customers. HauntRave was designed to offer a solution to this problem.?

HauntRave?s solution is to allow users to add the attraction of their choice to the website?s growing database of haunted attractions across the United States. Lombardi says, ?Have you been to a local attraction that was amazing but could do with more exposure? You can add the attraction to our website?free of charge?and help it get the attention it deserves. HauntRave is dedicated to making Halloween great and you can play a part in it, too.?

Once an attraction has been added to the website, it is allocated a dedicated page on the website. The page compiles a range of important information about the attraction, including opening hours, website address, contact details, location, and more. The page also allows users to leave a review for the attractions, rating them on a scale of 1-5.

The HauntRave website also features a dedicated blog where visitors can find posts delving into the details and history of various haunted attractions. While such attractions are the main focus, the page also includes good reading material that can help travelers plan vacations, or just learn more about Halloween in general.

A recent user of the HauntRave website, Mallory D., says, ?I am absolutely enthralled by vampires and am always on the lookout for anything vampire-related. HauntRave.com has been absolutely wonderful in helping me find good vampire-themed attractions. Recently, I found Castle Blood in Pennsylvania through HauntRave and the place was a blast! Best haunted house experience I?ve had. It was absolutely filled with atmosphere and told a story instead of just using jumpscares. I know I will definitely go back to Castle Blood again and, in the meantime, I will be using HauntRave.com to find other haunted places!?

Another recent user, Victor S. says, ?I usually like to visit a local attraction or two with my family whenever I travel, and finding HauntRave has been the best thing for my travels. Twice now, I?ve used it to find a place that my whole family can enjoy! My son, Sam, is not a big fan of family trips but is a big fan of horror, and HauntRave has allowed me to breathe some new life into him. I would highly recommend HauntRave to anyone looking for some great haunted attractions.?

HauntRave.com is also currently hosting a costume contest that they have dubbed ?HauntRave Hottie 2019.? The competition, in which users are invited to post up to three pictures of themselves in a Halloween costume, is judged by public vote. Those looking to win a possible first place prize of $500 are encouraged to enter the competition, share their profiles on social media, and get their friends and admirers to vote them to the top. In addition to the $500 cash prize, the first place winner will also be crowned HauntRave Hottie 2019 and get featured on HauntRave?s website and social media pages. The entry that gets second place will win $100 and the third place entry will win $50. The winners will be announced on Halloween.

Those who are looking to find a haunted attraction or learn more about the services that HauntRave.com provides may visit the website for more information. In addition to the website, HauntRave.com also has a Facebook page in which they post regular updates and interact with their users.
