Doggone Best Products, a Valley Village, California company, has recently introduced their new and improved dog joint supplement to the Amazon marketplace. Travis Mercure of Doggone Best Products released this statement: "We have recently switched suppliers and the joint supplement tablet that we now provide is much stronger in terms of dosage, compared to our older supplement."

The new formula contains more Glucosamine and MSM per tablet than most leading joint supplements that are currently being sold on Amazon. It is a comprehensive supplement for dogs and uses a combination of nutrients that help canine bodies function at their best.

"We are an independent family owned business that prides ourselves on giving each customer our full attention and support. We truly care about the health and happiness of each of our customers' dogs," says Mercure.

As a dog's age increases, their risk of arthritis, hip dysplasia, and other degenerative problems also increase. Many veterinarians recommend glucosamine for canine joint health because it helps to reduce stiffness and pain in older dogs.

Doggone Best Products is providing a 100 percent satisfaction guarantee with each purchase. Customers have a full 60 days to return the product for a refund.

The pet health supplement, which can be viewed at <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B00KCSEEDO>, contains destructive enzymes that help to break down cartilage in the joints. They also contain Vitamin C, which helps to boost the immune system of pets and will help ward off free radicals. Grape seed extract and Omega 6 fatty acids are additional ingredients, each having its own benefit toward inflammation and general health.

"I would recommend this to anyone with an older dog," states one Amazon customer. "My poor dog was in such pain that we honestly considered putting her down. I'm so glad we waited and tried this before we did."
