Ethos Spa Skin and Laser Center, based in Summit, New Jersey, recently discussed their laser hair removal and the benefits that this procedure offers to clients. The spa has become one of the most trusted centers for laser hair removal in the state of New Jersey and state that they now offer gift certificates for new clients.

Dr. Hardick Soni, founder and operator of the spa says, "We always want our clients to leave us feeling better about themselves. This is the basis of our offerings. We provide laser hair removal, Botox injections, dermal fillers and other treatments that are all designed to enhance good features or eliminate bad features from any point on the body."

Dr. Soni says that laser hair removal is a good way to get rid of unwanted hair for long periods of time, without the pain of waxing or the cost of shaving. Studies show that men and women together spend billions of dollars every year on shaving supplies such as razors and shaving creams and gels, as well as creams and lotions to remove hair. Dr. Soni states that given laser hair removal removes hair for longer periods of time than shaving, it is actually a more cost effective way of removing unwanted hair.

"When someone factors in that they will buy new razors once a month or so and then buy shaving cream or shaving gel, the cost is actually not much higher to just have that hair removed for a much longer period of time,? says Dr. Soni. ?Clients tell us all of the time how happy they are that they can go months without worries of shaving or waxing.?

Laser hair removal has become very popular over the years and provides a safe way to eliminate hair without shaving. Those who are interested can learn more about the process of laser hair removal by visiting the New Jersey spa on their official website at <https://ethos-spa-skin-and-laser-center.business.site/>.

Dr. Soni adds that this method of hair removal is perfectly safe for legs, as well as bikini lines, upper lips, underarms, chin, sideburns, backs, or anywhere unwanted hair may grow. He states that they have helped many clients to enjoy being completely hair free for a long period of time.

Laser hair removal is a process where a hand held laser is passed over the skin where the unwanted hair is growing. The laser works by focusing on each individual hair. The pigment inside the hair absorbs the light from the laser, which heats it up and destroys it from within.

Dr. Soni states that the number of treatments needed to effectively remove hair will depend on each individual client. Laser hair removal should be performed during the earliest phase of hair growth in order to be the most effective. Because of this, it may be necessary to do more than one session in order to be certain that the hair is removed properly during the specific growth stage.

Those who are interested in learning more can visit the spa on their official website or visit them on their official Facebook page at <https://www.facebook.com/MyEthosSpa> . The spa?s Facebook page offers interaction with the spa staff, as well as other clients who have undergone many of their offered treatments. Reviews on these treatments can be read on the Facebook page or on the company?s official website.

Dr. Soni has, over his many years in practice, performed tens of thousands of these laser hair removal treatments and states that he has never seen this procedure not be effective. He urges those who have questions to contact the spa to learn more. Their website has a contact form that can be utilized to schedule an initial appointment, as well as direct contact information for those who prefer telephone or email contact. Dr. Soni states that those who are interested can learn more about this and other procedures by visiting the spa online.
