Full-Height Grind & CPM 3V Steel Exclusive to KnivesShipFree

HILLSBORO, OREGON -- KnivesShipFree, a leading retailer and distributor of cutlery products, has announced that it has collaborated with Bark River Knives of Escanaba, Michigan to produce a special edition of Bark River's "Bushcrafter" fixed-blade knife.

This version of the Bushcrafter, available exclusively through KnivesShipFree, features Crucible Industries CPM 3V tool steel and a full-height "convex Scandi" grind. Designed for wilderness living, camping and survival, the Bushcrafter 3V has improved cutting and slicing ability, plus an attractive blade profile.

The Bark River Bushcrafter 3V measures 8.63 inches overall, with a blade length of 3.88 inches, and weighs 6.63 ounces. It's offered in a variety of handle materials and comes with a high-quality leather sheath.

"Our close relationship with Bark River has produced some great knives over the years," said Derrick Bohn of KnivesShipFree. "The Bushcrafter 3V may be the most useful knife we've ever done together."

"The Bushcrafter is the right design and just the right size to accomplish almost any task in the outdoors," said Mike Stewart of Bark River Knives. "It's become one of my favorite knives, and this special 3V edition really raises the bar."

Because the knives produced by Bark River are hand-finished, each is unique. Like many of the knives offered by KnivesShipFree, availability of the Bark River Bushcrafter 3V is limited.
