TacPack Reviews Success of 6 Items in May Box

August 21, 2019

August 21, 2019 -
TacPack is pleased to review its success with the inclusion of six items in the subscription box that was shipped out to subscribers this May. Every month, each member of the company?s subscription service receives a box containing a specially selected collection of everyday carry (EDC) items, survival equipment, and tactical gear. Carefully curated by TacPack?s own team of experts, these packs contain essential items for outdoor and everyday use.

TacPack has been offering its subscription boxes to customers all over the United States for more than three years. Since the founding of the company in 2015, it has remained one of the leading providers of EDC, survival, and tactical gear in the country. TacPack?s subscription-based service provides customers with a convenient opportunity to get essential items delivered right to their door.

Every subscription box shipped out by TacPack contains items that have been carefully selected for their utility and functionality for a variety of situations. These items will prove useful for outdoor activities, as well as everyday use in and around the home.

TacPack offered even more value to the subscription box with the inclusion of six items in the May package. With this package, customers received an even wider selection of useful items, each of which is supplied by the leading manufacturers in their respective fields.

TacPack?s unique subscription-based service provides a convenient alternative to shopping for individual EDC, survival, and tactical items. By offering items that are pre-selected for their value and utility, the company makes it easy for anyone to build up a collection of high-quality and useful items.

For a subscription fee of only $49.99, customers get a box with an average value of $135 delivered to their door every month. With each subscription box, customers get considerable cost savings and avoid the inconvenience of having to shop for individual items online. Customers are free to cancel their subscription at any time, with no further obligation.
