August 23, 2019 -

Dependable Homebuyers, the most reliable We Buy Houses company based in Nashville, has got another five star review. Timothy Kelly has sold his house to the real estate investment firm and is ecstatic with the entire experience. In his review, Mr. Kelly wrote that Dependable Homebuyers is an extremely professional and experienced firm, fully familiar with the real estate industry and has excellent service that can be truly relied upon. Mr. Kelly is one more client joining the long list of homeowners who have sold their houses using the services of Evan Roberts and his team at Dependable Homebuyers.

Evan Roberts, who is the founder and the owner of the real estate investment company, has said that their unique approach is what makes them so effective at what they do. Almost all clients they have worked with over the years have said that the team at Dependable Homebuyers is not only knowledgeable and resourceful but also proactively helpful. They are available when needed. Roberts routinely interacts with all their clients and provide them every piece of relevant information so the homeowners can make informed choices. The fact that there is no real estate agent involved and multiple listing services are not engaged to find a buyer makes this feat all the more fascinating.

Dependable Homebuyers has succeeded in creating an alternative that not only helps people to sell their houses quickly but also at values they cannot secure through the traditional route. There is no commission to be paid to a realtor. The closing cost is taken care of by the firm. The eventual net return is much higher for homeowners than what real estate agents or multiple listing services can facilitate. Another homeowner, Ms. Megan Donovan has recently sold her house to the firm. She endorses Roberts and his team. Ms. Donovan has said that the team at the We Buy Houses company is very professional and can work around a given schedule. While Roberts is known for his quick turnaround time while acquiring properties, he and his team can decide on the date of sale depending on the needs of the sellers. Ms. Donovan has pointed out that Roberts is always available to answer questions. The team at Dependable Homebuyers is proactive and always accessible to clarify anything sellers deem necessary at a given point in time. Roberts also stresses on the same and he explains that real time correspondence, absolute clarity about the facts and straightforward dealings with complete honesty and transparency are what have made his firm a standout alternative in the real estate sector today.

Dependable Homebuyers is buying all types of houses in Nashville and the surrounding areas. They have a presence across the state of Tennessee. In addition to providing nonobligatory services without charging any fee, the company has a perennial information campaign. Roberts and his team routinely update their blog and also issue press releases. The information shared from time to time is for homeowners to be more aware of the market so they can take the appropriate steps at the right times.
