Evan Roberts says that his firm was founded with the intention of offering a turnkey solution. In the aftermath of the global financial crisis when the housing market collapsed in the country, people struggled to sell their houses and buyers too were cautious as they were uncertain about the state of the economy. Many real estate professionals started flipping houses but not all raked in profits. Buying or selling and the premise of flipping are risky endeavors. Only those who have firsthand experience and sufficient expertise can create a win-win situation. Roberts and his team have managed to do just that and have done so consistently over the years.

Dependable Homebuyers has consultants with unmatched knowledge and familiarity with the local real estate market in Baton Rouge. But the firm has now expanded statewide and nationwide. It has also diversified beyond buying houses. It is now buying all types of land as well. The primary objective of the firm remains easing the selling process for homeowners. Roberts says that his team can make a cash offer for a house anywhere in the city or the surrounding areas in as little as twenty four hours after the inspection. The purchase offer is nonobligatory. Sellers do not pay any commission or service fee. There is no closing cost either. Dependable Homebuyers absorbs the closing cost. Sellers get the full amount quoted in the cash offer.

Dependable Homebuyers purchases houses in as-is condition. Sellers do not have to spend any money on repairs or home improvements. Staging can be avoided too. Their turnkey solution is empowering for sellers who do not have to rely solely on realtors and listing services. The company also has relevant services for investors and buyers.
