Princeville, Hawaii - August 28, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Princeville, Hawaii based Surf Till 100 has announced a new program to help everyone become servant leaders. Tom Woods, co-founder of Surf Till 100 and the President of Reef Guardians Hawaii, stated, "We are all born with the capability to lead in our own unique ways. It takes the Heart of a Champion to be a great Servant Leader. We invite everyone to take on the challenge because leadership is transformational, developing abilities which benefit everyone around them."

At the heart of the program is a foundation based on helping everyone lead healthier, happier lives, which in turn is expected to help them live longer. "Becoming true champions for humanity and for our planet will help leaders of any age, young and old alike, to make a profound difference in the lives of many others. We can see that the groundswell of passion is currently frustrated, hampered by the feeling that, as individuals, we can't make a difference. We urge anyone who feels this need to make the world a better place to tap into making a conscious, intentional choice to lead," continued Woods.

With over 100 combined years of experience in health, fitness, and competitive sports on a professional level, the founders of Surf Till 1000, Jeff Hakman, Felipe Pomar, and Tom Woods have a mission to help empower surfers, and anyone who wants to live a long and healthy life, in transforming the world into a more humane and healthy environment. Central to their unique program is the development of techniques to help others shift their core beliefs in order to manifest and actualize the greatness that is theirs to gain. They help their members become empowered, helping them exercise courage and learn from their own experiences to grow into the person they really want to be physically, mentally, spiritually.

The company has just finished their second annual Surf Till 100 retreat at Nemberala Beach Resort and puts into practice their inspirational and motivational experiences to help individuals, couples, and families develop a more focused and healthier lifestyle. Those keen to participate may look up further details on the company's website, which has already been updated with their 2020 program.

The founders aim to bring together those who feel the same sense of urgency in the face of unprecedented decline in the physical and spiritual health of the global population. Those interested in learning more can subscribe to their free newsletter through their site as well as read the informative articles on their blog. "The knowledge that we share with our free newsletter subscribers is priceless for those people that truly wish to develop the Heart and the Mind of a Champion," says Tom Woods.

The company was recently featured on Street Insider, highlighting how the legendary Kauai surfers have united to help both mankind and the environment. The article states, "Armed with their pragmatic optimism that human ingenuity can be used to overcome those difficult challenges, the work of Surf Till 100 is focused on creating and developing Wellness, Leadership, and Community Building educational programs that can help the common person become uncommonly resilient and a True Champion for Life who transmits the spirit of Aloha throughout their lifetime."

That spirit of Aloha resonates around the world with all those who share concerns for their environment and the impacts that man has had on their environment. Through a commitment to encourage and promote the culture of servant leadership, the company is developing heart-based intelligence in leaders and teams who are contributing to moving from the mentality of survival of the fittest to one with a more balanced focus of being an agent of change and growth—that begins within and spreads to others. Through this, individuals can become healthier, emotionally, and intellectually stronger in all aspects of life, and take more enjoyment from the experience of the moment, of the ocean, and the natural environment.

Their program can help anyone successfully master the basics of a healthy lifestyle, combining diet, exercise, and emotional resilience, to improve relationships and involvement in a supportive community. They will help anyone overcome their obstacles and challenges to help them develop their own unique style and focus as a Servant Leader.

Those who wish to learn more about the health and leadership coaching programs offered by Surf Till 100 can sign up for the program through their website. They may also contact the company by phone or email.
