August 26, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

With the average real estate agent in Delta County earning a four to six percent commission per property sale, it is easy to see why many property owners want to save all that money for themselves by going the FSBO route. If a house is being listed for $250,000, for example, the owner will have to fork over as much as $15,000 for a commission?and that is no small chunk of change.

But For Sale By Owner homes can create their own problems. In fact, sometimes this approach can be more expensive than just working with a real estate agent. There are a lot of pitfalls that sellers can fall into, simply because of their inexperience. They can make costly mistakes throughout the selling process.

The seller will have to study up on pricing the property. They don?t want to undersell or oversell their own home. Homeowners should do some research about the local market. Taking an objective point of view is important in this stage, even if the property has some sentimental value to the owner?buyers will not have that same connection to the home at first.

FSBO is therefore only effective for saving money if the property owner does it correctly. Selling a property without the help of an experienced real estate agent can be a huge challenge, especially in a very competitive market.

Flat Fee Pros of Delta County can help customers save large amounts of money by helping FSBO homes get proper listings. The MLS or Multiple Listing Services is perhaps the most vital tool for anyone who wants to sell their property. It is complete, it is accessible, and most importantly, it is reliable. The MLS is, therefore, a credible and trusted way of making real estate transactions more efficient. If a property is listed there, it drastically improves the chances of selling it.

An MLS is a private offer of cooperation and compensation by listing brokers to other real estate brokers. Nowadays, brokers can share information on properties they have listed through more than 800 MLSs. They can invite fellow brokers to cooperate in their sale in exchange for compensation if they produce the buyer. Sellers benefit by getting increased exposure to their property, meaning more chances of completing a sale. Buyers can also benefit from obtaining information about all MLS-listed properties while working with only one broker.

The difference is that Flat Fee Pros of Delta County is ahead of the curve. Working with this company helps buyers and sellers rest easy, knowing that they have the technology to succeed. These industry experts have hundreds of millions of dollars in combined real estate transactions. Dedicated support staff can help put listings up fast so that more people see it.
