Dependable Homebuyers is a home buying company at the forefront of the housing market. The innovative business was recently featured on the ePodcast network which features entrepreneurs of many industries. Dependable Homebuyers has been quietly building a name for themselves amongst homebuyers in Fort Myers and leading economists alike. The owner of Dependable Homebuyers, Evan Roberts, believes in educating potential homeowners of all the options available to them if they are interested in selling their home.

The title of the informative podcast was ?How To Sell An Ugly Home in Fort Myers.? Mr. Roberts offered advice and tips to listeners on how to sell their homes quickly. Many different situations can arise that requires a homeowner to want to sell their home in an exceedingly short time frame. The reason could be anything from being unable to afford the repairs the home needs, relocating for a job or falling behind on payments. Whatever the reason, Dependable Homebuyers is there to help.

When speaking about his experience taking part in a podcast, Mr. Roberts expressed his genuine hope that the advice and information helped any homeowners listening who were looking for a quick and easy way to sell their home without the stress and headache. ?My partners and I started Dependable Homebuyers because we were passionate about the real estate industry and their ability to help unburden homeowners of the hassle that selling a home often involves. I was a bit nervous about recording a podcast, as public speaking isn?t my forte; selling homes is.? However, he also revealed that he would be willing to have a repeat performance to reach more potential clients or to provide more information to clients who have already reached out to the company about selling their home quickly and easily. He finished up by saying he enjoys his job and hopes to continue helping more people find a solution to selling their homes.

One solution Mr. Roberts and Dependable Homebuyers provides is an immediate cash offer within 24-hours of viewing the property. The company purchases many homes every month by removing the middleman of a typical real estate agent. The company does have home inspections done before purchasing the home, but at no cost to the seller. Additionally, the homes are purchased as-is. Any necessary repairs are done by the company?s in-house contractors. Click here to contact Dependable Homebuyers and get a cash offer today.

As impossible as it sounds, the company purchases homes in any condition or situation in Fort Myers, Fla. Once a cash offer is made and an agreement to sell reached, clients can potentially have their money by the end of the week. Since Dependable Homebuyers doesn?t use real estate agents who get a percentage of the sale for a commission, that?s more money in the pocket of the seller.
