

Roofing Company In Lincoln NE Still Taking Care of Hail Storm Victims

August 30, 2019

Highlands, Nebraska - August 30, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

In May of this year the hailstorm that struck the city of Lincoln, Nebraska did extensive damage to many home and business roofs in the area. As a matter of fact, when the insurance claims are all added up, it will most likely be the costliest hailstorm in the city's history. While some roofing companies have lessened their emphasis on taking care of the problems with the victims' roofs of this massive hailstorm, that is certainly not the case with Home Solutions Of Nebraska. They are still making every effort to expedite the repairs on those hailstorm victims' roofs that are still in a damaged state.

The company's spokesperson, Justin Brandt, elaborated on this by saying, "Even though the bad hailstorm that hit the Lincoln area took place over 3 months ago, there are still many homes with roofs that need repairing. Chances are that many of these roofs which were pummeled repeatedly by large hail have leaks in them. This is not something that victims of the storm want to put off getting taken care of for long. Even little leaks eventually turn into big ones that can cause extensive rot and other structural damage to a home. That's why we are working so hard to take care of as many of these Lincoln hailstorm victims as we can."

Brandt went on to talk about why it is so important for the storm victims to get their roofs inspected right away even if they see no visible signs of damage. He said that many times when large size hailstones hit, the damage that they cause is to the roof structure underneath the shingles and not to the shingles themselves. Experienced roofing techs like theirs are able to spot subsurface roofing damage by feel and other means. Brandt also went on to add that many of these roof inspections are also free of charge. So there really is no good reason not to get one done if somebody was in the path of the May hailstorm.

Brandt stated that those people that are looking for a Roofing Lincoln NE company to come help them out, need to be persistent at getting someone to come look at their roof. He says this is because roofs are very unforgiving when it comes to problems with them. What may be a small roofing problem now can become a much bigger and more expensive problem to repair if it's let go for long. Brandt again emphasized that some roofing companies like theirs are still out there working hard for those May hailstorm victims that still need help.

Home Solutions of Nebraska is a local Lincoln roofing and renovations contractor that has been in business for over 15 years. They specialize in all types of roofing work from replacing just a few lost shingles to doing entire roof replacements. The company also offers several other types of home improvement services too. This includes such things as siding replacements, replacement windows, and forming up new gutters and downspouts. They also can do just about any type of design and build project.

Brandt says that they are not a one size fits all roofing and renovations contractor by any means. They are a company that tailors each roofing and renovations job that they do to an individual customer's needs. That way each customer gets the exact roofing or renovations work done that they were looking for. He also stated that they are a company that's known for offering their customers a wide variety of roofing and renovations that will fit any budget.

More about the services that this Lincoln Roofing Contractor offers can be seen on their website. The Home Solutions of Nebraska website also shows how they can be contacted by both phone and email. There is even a form to fill out that will let an interested party get a free online quote for their roofing or renovation services. The website even features a map of the company's location for those that are interested to stop by and talk to them in person.
