Bowling Green, KY. ? A local auto accident lawyer in Kentucky, Mike Breen, Attorney at Law, P.S.C. has provided a few tips on how to deal with insurance companies. Filing an insurance claim can be a difficult and stressful process. Mike Breen has provided a few steps to take to ensure a client?s claim isn?t undervalued.

The first thing clients need to be aware of are the insurance companies? vast resources. They have highly trained lawyers and other personnel that will scan every detail of a claim to lower a policy holder?s damages. ?During my nearly 30 years of experience, I have learned how insurance companies evaluate claims,? says attorney Mike Breen, ??and many of the tricks they use to try and pay less than they owe to people who have been hurt or injured.?

The Bowling Green personal injury lawyer also advises notifying the insurance agent about the incident immediately after it occurs, regardless of who is at fault. In addition, don?t accept any pre-settlements, otherwise known as ?first call settlements?. This is a tactic used by insurance companies to entice victims to settle for thousands of dollars less than they deserve.

Another important tip is to document everything with pictures, receipts, or other documentation. It's much harder to justify a claim without physical proof. Take photos of injuries from the incident until it's completely healed. Keep hospital bills, receipts from prescription pills, and even gas receipts to and from hospital visits.

Mike Breen, Attorney at Law, P.S.C. has positively impacted many people because of his dedication to informing them. "Mike Breen is the most intelligent, detail oriented, dedicated attorney that I have ever had the pleasure to know and work with." States client Jeff B., who was beyond happy with his experience with the attorney. "He handled my case above and beyond all expectations. He and his staff are top notch and I would not hesitate to recommend his firm to handle any important matter. They truly care about their clients."
