Blessed Towing Company is now all set to provide the fastest towing services in Detroit, MI. As the center of the automobile industry in America, Detroit similarly sets the standards for providing the best vehicle assistance available and Blessed Towing has responded to the challenge. Understanding that business gets better by change and not by chance, the company undertook a substantial revamp last July 2019 to better serve their customers and address their demands.

According to the company representative Steffan Knight, "All companies need to embrace change by looking to the future. Else, you'll end up getting what you've already got when you always do what you've always done."

Speed is one of the key areas that the company sought to improve in undergoing the overhaul. The company has reassessed and segmented their target market to effectively respond to emergencies. It concentrates its operations in Detroit, MI, and its surrounding communities. In this way, its pledge to respond in 30-minutes is realistically achieved. The company is also equipped with modern communication systems between its central dispatching office and tow drivers. Tow trucks are also deployed on standby in identified strategic locations for quicker response. For a complete list of areas served by the company, please click here: <http://gmbp.in/u/5d6677472727d>.

Information technology is another arena that the company wishes to capitalize on. They launched a revamped website that not only serves to provide information to their customers. It serves as a channel for listening and engaging their customers. It also serves as an alternative medium to get inquiries, send requests or get in touch with the company. Aside from calling the company phone number at (313) 992-7080, customers can visit the company website to send messages conveniently through their computer, smartphones or any mobile gadgets. Their website is optimized for mobile because customers normally access websites through their phones or mobile devices. Despite more than 15 years of towing experience, Blessed Towing never ceases to improve and upgrade the skills of their workers. All workers underwent retaining on towing safety and procedures to ensure that their service standards remain at the highest level. Through this, their tow team is kept abreast with the latest technology and knowhow to competently handle towing and roadside assistance services. Their tow crew remains adept in flatbed towing, light and medium-duty towing, wheel lift towing, short and long-distance towing and all other types of towing.

Knight adds, "Just having satisfied customers isn't good enough for our company. All our workers are trained to always exhibit an attitude of gratitude in all their engagements with our customers."

In line with this, all services from receiving calls, to rendering the towing or roadside assistance like jumpstarting, delivering fuel, or changing a tire to payment of fees are done with the utmost respect, courtesy, and professionalism. The company has shifted its focus from merely helping the customer to attaining a customer experience that is beyond compare.

Finally, the company has pegged its high-quality service at low rates. To ensure better road and driving safety for the public, the company believes that it must increase access to quality and affordable tow truck services. In this way, professional help becomes more accessible for car breakdowns, accidents, and other road troubles and can be resolved faster, safer and more efficiently.
