Brandy Station, VA based Dynamic Heating and Cooling is pleased to inform Culpeper residents that the company will still be on hand to assist them as the summer season gives way to the fall and winter seasons. Their Culpeper air conditioning repair service is expected to serve a great many homeowners over the coming months.

“While homeowners expect to switch off their air conditioning unit and not think of it again for at least another six months, we urge them to remember that they just finished a period of reasonably heavy use over the summer,” says company representative Josh Bersee. “This is a good time for them to consider calling on us to check out their systems to ensure that everything is working as expected. That way, no one will be in for a nasty shock when their unit is turned on again.” While Bersee primarily speaks to homeowners, he notes that his advice is as valid for commercial properties as it is for residential ones. “An office environment is often far more likely to stay air conditioned at all times,” he notes. “While that sort of environment probably has extra redundancy built in, or maybe even spare units ready to roll out, it’s always a good idea to have a professional look over the system to ensure it’s good to go whenever it’s switched on.”

It is especially vital, Bersee continues, if the unit in question has not seen any maintenance in a year and is due for an inspection. The HVAC expert states that the chance of a breakdown increases over time as a unit goes without maintenance. In time, a problem that could have been resolved during a simple maintenance check could require a more thorough repair process. "If you work or live in an area that can't do without air conditioning, it's more important that you try to head off problems before they become serious issues," he says. "Call us, and we'll be there to make sure you won't be caught in the heat when the season changes."

"However," he adds, "you don't have to take our word for it. We have plenty of happy customers who were pleased enough with our services to leave online reviews of the experience they had with us. We invite you to look up what they had to say about us." One such review, posted by customer Lyn S., says, "Josh was great! Friendly, fast and knowledgeable. We'll have nice, cool air upstairs in no time! Definitely recommend Dynamic Heating and Cooling to my friends and neighbors." Similarly, Tim B. said, "Josh was very professional. Came out on Sunday. Extremely knowledgeable of my AC system. He was on time for my appointment and it was a job well done. I would highly recommend Dynamic Heating and Cooling. They were trustworthy and honest with the work they had to do." Notably, both of these customers gave Dynamic Heating and Cooling a full 5/5 Star review score—an established staple of their reviews, considering that their average user score is also a perfect 5/5 Stars.

The company offers a wide range of services. As they state on their website, "Whatever you HVAC needs, Dynamic Heating and Cooling has you covered. We provide quality heating and air conditioning repair and installation services to keep you comfortable no matter the season. We also carry HVAC products that help to further improve comfort and heating and cooling efficiency." Their services include the installation/repair of heating and cooling systems, ductwork design and construction, change and upgrades to current systems, and many more. Residents and business owners or administrators alike are encouraged to contact the company should they have any HVAC-related issues. "If your system has a problem, it's a good bet that we can resolve it," affirms Bersee. "If it has to do with any sort of HVAC system maintenance, we're the people you need."
