Vive Polanco, a real estate agency based in Mexico City, Mexico, is reaching out to the community to announce that they provide real estate development opportunities for Mexicans in Miami. The agency operates in three cities: Polanco, Mexico; Miami, Florida; and Aspen, Colorado, but does most of their work in Miami. More information about their services in Miami can be found here: Invierte en Miami.

Josh Stein, Founder and representative of Vive Polanco, says, "While, traditionally, a lot of my clients used to come from places like Brazil, Venezuela and Argentina, I am seeing a huge shift right now with an increase in the number of Mexicans who are looking to own a piece of Miami. Wealthy Mexicans are investing in Miami real estate at record rates and I can imagine there are a few reasons why. With the beautiful weather and gorgeous beaches, anyone will agree that Miami is a safe investment; a city that is growing quickly. Add to that the high levels of safety, the fact that Miami is an international city; and is only three hours away from Mexico by plane, there's really no reason why Mexicans wouldn't want to invest in Miami."

Stein has more than fifteen years of experience in selling Miami real estate and has made more than $250 million in sales. His experience and knowledge have consistently put him in the top rankings for Miami real estate agents. His specialty is foreign investment opportunities, which makes him the perfect agent for foreigners looking to invest in American real estate, as he understands all the relevant laws and legal requirements and knows what properties are going to be the safest investments for his clients.

Stein says, "I take my clients' needs very seriously and always try to guide them to the right property. Completed properties are straight to the point, of course, but when it comes to pre-construction properties, I can proudly say that I have a deep understanding of all new projects and make it my mission to guide my buyers to the right one—the one that is guaranteed to succeed."

According to Stein, Vive Polanco is meant to be the destination for luxury real estate. To that end, the agency has formed alliances with some of the most well known artists, galleries, and luxury brands in order to provide their clients a complete luxury experience. He says, "Vive Polanco is one of the fastest growing real estate agencies in the city and we set ourselves apart by catering exclusively to the high-end luxury market. That means we always have to provide the best for our clients and nothing less. If you want to know more about the work we do, you can always check out the two Expo Events centered on Departamentos en Polanco."

It is this dedication to quality that has allowed Stein to build Vive Polanco into one of the premiere real estate agencies in Mexico and Miami, representing some of the most spectacular properties in Miami. This includes, but is not limited to, a 6,000 square foot waterfront mansion on Dilido Island and a 4,000 square foot oceanfront condo at the St. Regis in Bal Harbour.

Stein and Vive Polanco are also dedicated to helping their clients find the best real estate in Polanco. Stein says, "Polanco is considered one of the best parts of Mexico City to live in and has been seeing rapid growth over time. I myself see Mexico City growing into becoming one of the best cities in the world. The luxury real estate market in Mexico is very strong and that's a key indicator of the direction the city is moving in. I want Vive Polanco to be a contributor to Mexico City's growth."
