MainVue Homes is now building in Ridgeview Crossing Allen, Texas. Known for their bright, open contemporary floor plan with soaring ceiling is what differentiates their styles from other new home builders Their rectangular windows are also installed in the open 2nd-floor walls in the living rooms, giving their homes natural lighting. MainVue Homes is currently the only home builder that is building contemporary homes at this volume in the United States market.

One of their new floor plans offered at Ridgeview Crossing in Allen Texas is called the Bali Q2 Plan. This plan has the option to have 4 to 5 bedrooms with a movie theater room. Depending on what one chooses, the sqft can range from 3,200 to 3,700. This home has a two-story covered porch, a separate study off of the foyer, a guest room on the main floor with its own private bathroom. It also has a grand butler's pantry with additional walk-through pantry which has direct access to the 2 car garage. The master bathroom has a free-standing designer tub and expansive walk-in closet.

The neighborhood is estimated to be about 262 lots that will be available to homeowners. MainVue Homes anticipates building on half of the lots that are available in the neighborhood. Features in the neighborhood includes an amenity center with resort-style pool, veranda, seating and a barbecue pit. There are over five acres of open space that includes a 2.3 acre park with playground. Shopping nearby includes Allen Outlet Mall, Fairview Town Center, Target and Whole Foods Market. It would take about 7 mins to get to all of these shopping centers. There are also numerous restaurants nearby located off of Stacy Road which lies South of the neighborhood.

The Bali Q2 Plan is being featured on Builder Hot Spots, a website where new home buyers can find a list of new homes in the Dallas Ft. Worth metroplex. Builder Hot Spots allow buyers to sort through new home builders, sort by neighborhoods, prices and floor plans.
