Cub Roofing, a roof repair and reconstruction company based out of London, Ontario, is excited to announce the newest addition to the company website: a new service page that outlines all the available services Cub Roofing offers in great detail. Customers looking for residential roof services will be pleased to know the company has the knowledge and equipment necessary to work on roofs with asphalt shingles, mason-style clay tiles, and slate tiles. Similarly, their team is also fully equipped to work on roofs commonly found on commercial buildings. As outlined on the new service page, Cub Roofing is able to repair and replace tar and gravel roofs as well as metal roofs such as corrugated, standing seam, aluminum, and reinforced steel. Alongside years of experience in servicing metal roofs, the roofing company's employees have gone through extensive training in the use of heat-welds. Servicing London, Ontario and the surrounding areas, Cub Roofing has more than 20 years of experience repairing roofs that have experienced storm damage. Due to the city's humid climate, the area sees its fair share of severe thunderstorms. Fortunately, Cub Roofing is dedicated to the residents of London, Ontario, and so offers a plethora of storm-related roofing repair services.

Notably, the service page on the company's website highlights the risk that even small storms pose to the structures in a roof. While many homeowners choose to have their roof inspected by a contractor after heavy hailstorms, Cub Roofing urges their customers to have their roof appraised after any type of storm if they suspect any level of damage. To further assist their customers, Cub Roofing has team members that are fully qualified to inspect any type of roof for damages. London, Ontario residents are encouraged to visit the company's new service page to learn more about the dangers of storms, what types of storm-related damages Cub Roofing is qualified to repair, and how to call the company to receive a free quote on any roof repair or replacement services they offer.

"Cub Roofing did a great job and completed the project on time and within my budget," says customer Reid F. "When the weather forecast unexpectedly changed to predict heavy rain in the middle of the project, I was worried. Fortunately, the team worked all weekend in advance of the storm to make sure it would be watertight and even checked on how the roof was holding up in the middle of the storm. I greatly appreciated the care they put into every detail and how seriously they took the advancing storm."

When Cub Roofing's team works on a roof repair of any kind, they aim for 100% customer satisfaction. While this outlook on customer service is especially important when working on a project, the company strives for great customer service in all aspects of their business. To let their customers know exactly what services they offer, Cub Roofing has outlined exactly what they do and what techniques they use to repair damage on their new service page, organized by roof type. Once a customer selects their roof type they can educate themselves on common types of damage that are typically found on each type of roof and what Cub Roofing can do to ensure that the risk for these types of damage is lessened.
