

Future Restored Innovates Their Admission Process

September 04, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Future Restored unveiled their innovative admissions process, which is geared toward helping those who are victims of substance abuse.

The admission process begins the moment someone reaches out for help. Many times, addicts are unsure if they need help or not, so Future Restored developed a questionnaire for those who are still on the fence about going to rehab. There are 5 total questions, and an answer of yes to any one of them indicates a need for treatment. However, the client is not coerced or persuaded to enter rehab. Instead, the choice is completely up to them.

The next step in the process is to contact Future Restored to find out which direction to go to next. Although it is preferable to call, prospects also have the opportunity to send an email. During this phase, patients are put in contact with a local counselor who will gather the information needed to point the patient to the best recovery option for them.

Once the custom recovery plan is established, the client is directed to the facility best suited for them. A multidisciplinary approach to treatment is highly effective in treating addiction disorders. This allows the patient to recover not just from substance abuse but also healing for the body, mind, and spirit. Addiction affects all aspects of a user's life. Therefore, in order to recover and maintain sobriety, all of these aspects need to be included in the patient's treatment plan.
