

Captain Hooks Towing Service in Lexington, KY Officially Launched

September 06, 2019

September 06, 2019 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Captain Hooks has announced the official launch of their towing service in Lexington, KY. The company provides towing services in and around the Lexington area from its headquarters located in Palumbo Drive. The company formally started full business operations on August 23, 2019, since undergoing an extensive company overhaul to improve its services.

Zidane Small, a representative for the company says, "Since re-launching our tow operations in the Horse Capital of the World, we have been receiving many calls for emergency towing and roadside assistance. We are happy to serve the nice people of Lexington and we look forward to helping more people with their towing needs."

Named after a major character in J. M. Barrie's play, Peter Pan, Captain Hooks Towing operates 24-7. People can rely on them for help whether it's day or night, on weekdays and weekends and even during holidays. "The city of Lexington needs a dependable towing company that offered uninterrupted tow services at affordable rates, that's why we decided to enhance our services to meet this demand," adds Small. "We assembled a team composed of veteran tow truck drivers in the area. We are pleased and honoured of our worker's accomplishments as we look forward to serving more people from the Lexington area.?

In keeping with the company revamp, Captain Hooks Towing also launched their official website which can be accessed here: <https://www.captainhookstowing.com>. The website contains complete company information, a full description of their services, as well as a complete list of their service coverage areas. Service areas include Cadentown, Brighton, Pinehurst, Shawneetown, Zandale, Cardinal Hill, Gardenside, Sandersville, Beaumont Park and other communities around Lexington. A list of zip codes of the areas they serve can also be found on the website.

Small states, "Our company aspires of giving our customers the best towing experience. Aside from performing efficient towing service, we target to provide the fastest response and arrival time to customer location by reaching customers in a few minutes. We also make every effort to keep the towing process per se within 30 minutes. Stranded motorists need not endure long and stressful waiting time especially those who experience troubles late at night.?"

"I empathize for people stranded on the side of the road in the middle of the night who can't find reliable towing rescue. It's terrifying and worrying," explains Small. "With Captain Hooks around, people can just dial our number and we will be there within a very short amount of time. We promptly answer calls and dispatch our tow crew with a sense of urgency because we want our customers to be safe.?" In line with this, Small further suggested that motorists should keep a phone number of their company in case of emergencies. Small also assures customers that they will never get surprised by their towing bill. The company is downright upfront about their fees. Thorough inspection and evaluation of customer needs are conducted before any work is performed so that the company can provide an honest and straightforward bill that is free from any hidden charges.

Small conveys the pleasure of all Captain Hook's employees to be working for the people in Lexington. He also invites the people in and around the Lexington area to visit the company on their new official website to discover more about their emergency towing and roadside assistance services, special announcements and other news. Interested customers can also find an online contact form on the website to send inquiries and feedback or ask any questions to the company.
